U.N. Council Slaps Zorin

Congo Meeting, Demanded Last Night, Set Today

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) —The U.N. Security Council will meet Wednesday to hear Soviet demands that Congo authorities release deposed Premier Patrice Lumumba from jail.

Soviet delegate Valerian A. Zorin, the December president of the 11-nation council, failed to get an emergency session Tuesday night. He bumped up against angry opposition from the Western powers, which said there was no reason for undue haste.

Abuse Of Power Charged

This was the pattern of events:

Zorin called on Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjold at 11:15 a.m. and notified him he planned to summon the council into an emergency night session.

When the United States and other Western members learned of Zorin's plans they charged Zorin was acting in an arbitrary manner and abusing his powers as council president.

A poll of the 11 members failed to win sufficient support for a night meeting.

The United States disclosed it had sent an appeal to Congo authorities to afford Lumumba humane treatment and a fair trial, but added the same attitude should be taken toward Congolese legislators held by pro-Lumumba authorities at Stanleyville.

Songolo Case Recalled

There was no opposition from the United States to holding a council meeting in accord with regular council procedure. But the United States made clear it would call the councils' attention to such cases as Alphonse Songolo, a Congolese legislator imprisoned at Stanleyville and reported to have lost an eye when beaten by pro-Lumumba forces.

Before Zorin's call on Hammarskjold, the Soviet delegation distributed a statement blaming the United States, Belgium, Britain and France for the latest turn of events in the Congo, including the actions taken against Lumumba.

Mother Guilty In 'Sleeping Beauties' Case

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)—Petite, attractive Lillian Fratantonio, mother of this city's "sleeping beauties," was convicted Tuesday of mistreating the two little girls by secretly feeding them sleep-inducing drugs.

The girls received nationwide attention last summer when doctors puzzled over what sent them into deep comas

The younger, Bernadette, 3, had been in the hospital for the biggest part of a year, and thousands of dollars were contributed to pay for the specialists who examined her here and in New York.

Venita, 6, who joined her sister at Mount Sinai Hospital July 10, and Bernadette have been temporarily in custody of a Catholic charities home. They will remain at that home until the court decides who will care for them.

Juvenile Court Judge Albert A. Woldman said he will order a psychiatric examination for the mother. He said this will be part of a presentencing report. Mrs. Fratantonio, 29, who has been taking psychiatric treatments on her own since last August, was released in custody of her husband, Vincent, a shipping clerk at a local brewery. Her bond of $1,000 was continued.

The key element in the state's case was a statement in which Mrs. Fratantonio confessed to the druggings. She later repudiated it from the witness stand. The question was whether she had used an eyedropper to administer the drugs.

The maximum penalty for the criminal charge of ill treatment of children is one year in jail and a fine of $500.

In her confession, made to police a few days after the birth of her fifth child, Mrs. Fratantonio is quoted as saying she gave the girls barbiturates in the hope it would bring her and her husband closer together. This point was never further elaborated during the trial.

Troops Loyal To Lumumba Raid Villages

Mobutu Sends Reinforcements To Equator Area

LEOPOLDVILLE, the Congo (AP)—Col. Joseph Mobutu reinforced Equator Province to the north Tuesday after soldiers loyal to ex-Premier Patrice Lumumba attacked three villages there.

The attackers came from Oriental Province to the east, stronghold of Lumumba's supporters who are threatening to set up a rival regime in Stanleyville, the provincial capital.

The raid tended to discount a statement by Mobutu, the Congo army chief, that the Lumumba faction held only part of Stanleyville and had no strength in the rest of Oriental.

The attack on the Equator border villages apparently was in reprisal for Mobutu's arrest of Lumumba, captured in the interior last week after he eluded army surveillance in this capital.

Two Villagers Killed

Advices from the province said the raiders attacked villages inhabited by the Bumbas, Mobutu's tribe, and at least two villagers were killed.

Mobutu sent a company of soldiers by plane from Leopoldville to reinforce the garrisons in Equator.

Wrangling between Mobutu's backers and the United Nations continued. A U.N. official promised vigorous action if—as reported — the Congolese Transport Corp. carried out a threat to halt the transport of U.N. supplies by rail between the port of Matadi and Leopoldville.

U.N. soldiers guarding the residence of President Joseph Kasavubu, a Mobutu backer, were abruptly withdrawn. They had been on guard duty there for several months.

Denies Lumumba Assaulted

U.N. officials said Kasavubu's security has now become a purely Congolese matter. The U.N. Command is embittered by the absence of any apology or offer of compensation after Congolese soldiers made savage assaults on U.N. personnel recently.

Mobutu called newsmen to his army camp and told them that Lumumba had not been brutally assaulted in jail, as reported.

He said Belgian doctors examined Lumumba and pronounced him in satisfactory condition. He conceded that Lumumba had a sprained wrist and a swollen eye from the beating by the soldiers who captured him.

Khrush Confined To Bed With Cold

MOSCOW (AP) — Soviet Premier Khrushchev is confined to bed at his villa in the Lenin Hills with a chest cold and a slight temperature. All his state appointments were canceled.

Khrushchev was forced to forego an appearance at the Bolshoi Theater Tuesday night where a gala performance was given in honor of visiting Communist Chinese President Liu Shao-chi.

He was unable to appear at a tea given earlier by Mrs. Khrushchev for visiting Cleveland industrialist Cyrus Eaton and his wife.

There was no reason to suppose Khrushchev had anything more serious than a cold believed to have been caught at the railway station last Friday night while seeing off Prince Norodom Sihanouk of Cambodia.

Conferees After Dramatic Meeting

President-Elect Hints Of New Role For Eisenhower

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower and his successor, Sen. John F. Kennedy, met man-to-man Tuesday to talk about the political changeover and to seal American unity behind the continued search for world peace.

The Republican President and the Democratic president-elect, chatting at a White House conference for more than three hours, laid aside the acrimony of a presidential campaign in which each had assailed the other's policies and proposals.

Their dramatic morning meeting occurred before a backdrop of pomp and pageantry—a military honor guard and patriotic music.

Then sitting side by side at the Presidents' desk in the oval executive office, Eisenhower and Kennedy talked alone for an hour and 50 minutes about domestic and international affairs. Their discussions centered particularly on the troublesome imbalance of U.S. foreign payments and its threat to the stability of the American dollar.

Then, Eisenhower, at 70 the oldest president ever to serve, and Kennedy, at 43 the youngest ever elected to the office, walked a few steps to the Cabinet room.

There Secretary of State Christian A. Herter, Secretary of the Treasury Robert B. Anderson and Secretary of Defense Thomas S. Gates filled in Kennedy on the details of American problems in a sorely troubled world. These talks lasted an hour and 15 minutes.

Joint Statement Issued

Out of the conferences came a joint Eisenhower-Kennedy statement aimed at reassuring the world that the January transition from a Republican to a Democratic administration will be an orderly one in which historic American objectives will remain unchanged.

The President and the president-elect reaffirmed the position that the United States does not covet other peoples' territory and does not seek to dominate them.

"The American people and their government have consistently sought to protect freedom and have tried to help people throughout the world better their standards of living,' their joint statement said. "These national objectives will be vigorously pursued by the incoming administration.

"The government of the United States has and will continue to seek peace with justice in freedom for all peoples."

As Kennedy left the White House, he told reporters he had had a cordial meeting with Eisenhower, who had described him sarcastically only a few weeks ago during the election campaign as a "young genius" unprepared to take on the burdens of the presidency.

Ike Would Serve If Needed

Kennedy said he had brought up in the discussion the possibility that Eisenhower might undertake some public service after his retirement in January. He said Eisenhower had stated he would be happy to serve if the time should come when he could do so usefully.

His arrival at the White House was marked with military pomp not usually displayed in such affairs.

Uniformed members of the armed services lined the driveway and the Marine Band struck up "The Stars and Stripes Forever" as Kennedy's unescorted car drove into the White House grounds.

Kennedy To Be Briefed On Top U. N. Problems

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) —President-elect John F. Kennedy will get a first-hand report on critical U.N. problems Wednesday, including the latest developments in the Congo.

He meets U.N. Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjold and possibly other top U.N. officials at a quietly arranged breakfast a short time before the U.N. Security Council meets to take up the Congo situation.

There was no indication that Kennedy planned to visit U.N. headquarters after the breakfast at a midtown New York hotel. There also was no word that he intended to confer with members of the U.S. delegation, headed by Ambassador James J. Wadsworth.

As far as U.N. officials are concerned, the Kennedy-Hammarskjold meeting is strictly private —not even formally announced in advance. There were reports that Undersecretary Ralph J. Bunche, top American in the secretariat, might see Kennedy but Bunche would not comment.

Diplomats here said there was little doubt that the Congo problem would hold a top place in the discussions. This of course, would include the U.N. financial crisis caused mainly by the costly U.N. operation in the Congo.

Task Force Expanded

NEW YORK (AP)—A task force set up by President-elect John F. Kennedy to study the depressed areas problem will meet Friday in Charleston, W. Va., with its membership expanded from 11 to 17.

Labor Group Urges Kennedy Back Tax Cut

WASHINGTON (AP)—A major segment of organized labor urged President-elect John F. Kennedy Tuesday to sponsor a broad, temporary tax cut as a "direct attack on economic stagnation."

That is the top item on a long list of objectives proposed for the incoming national administration at a meeting here of the Executive Committee of the AFL-CIO Industrial Union Department.

This department, headed by President Walter Reuther of the Auto Workers Union, claims about seven million members, mostly factory workers.

Declaring the nation is again in a "full-blown recession," its policy statement said a direct attack on economic sluggishness is the "best way to reverse current unemployment, budget and growth trends.'

"First and foremost," it said, "the nation needs high velocity dollars in the hands of the average consumer. To this end the IUD urges a broad-based, temporary tax cut aimed at increasing the net spendable income of America's great mass of wage and salary earners."

The statement did not mention what type of taxes should be cut, or how much or for how long. Presumably a cut in income taxes was meant. The AFL-CIO group said $10 billion compensating taxes could be raised by plugging tax loopholes.

The statement said unemployment has reached a 20-year record for November of approximately four million, and is headed toward five million in January when Kennedy will be inaugurated.

The Labor Department reported, meanwhile, that most employers expect a net decrease in job levels by mid-January.

A survey showed an increase in the number of areas classed by the government as having substantial labor surplus, meaning an idle rate of over 6 per cent of the work force.

The number of such areas has grown to 51, or more than a third of the nation's major production centers. The number was 32 a year earlier and 83 in November 1958 in the recession.

Kennedy Baby To Be Baptized Thursday

WASHINGTON (AP)—John F. Kennedy Jr., the nation's most famous baby, will be baptized Thursday in the chapel of Georgetown University Hospital.

Only his parents, President-elect John F. Kennedy and his wife, Jacqueline, and a few others, will be there to watch Father Martin Casey administer the sacrament of baptism of the Roman Catholic Church. Father Casey is pastor of Holy Trinity Church in Georgetown.

The child will wear the same dress the father wore when he was baptized.

Mrs. Charles L. Bartlett will be godmother to the infant. She is the wife of the Washington correspondent of the Chattanooga Times. The Bartletts are good friends of the Kennedys, and introduced Kennedy to Jacqueline Bouvier who became his wife.

Bartlett will act as proxy for the boy's godfather, Stanislas Radziwill, a Polish prince who lives in London and is married to Mrs. Kennedy's sister.

Jack Convicted In Second Trial

NEW YORK (AP)—Manhattan Borough President Hulan Jack was convicted Tuesday in a retrial of conflict-of-interest charges. The jurys' verdict costs him his $25,000-a-year post, the highest municipal office in the land held by a Negro.

Jack was visibly stunned by the verdict. He swallowed hard and left the courtroom in a daze.

"Im' very disappointed in the verdict handed down this evening," he later told reporters. "I say to all of you I'm fully convinced of my innocence and it will be established some day."

Jack, 55, can receive misdemeanor jail sentences totaling three years under the conviction, plus $1,500 in fines. Sentencing was scheduled for Jan. 16.

The conviction, for accepting an apartment remodeling job from a city business client, climaxed a series of scandals currently besetting the Democratic city administration.

Defense attorney Carson De Witt Baker told newsmen outside the General Sessions courthouse:

"There will be an appeal to every court in the nation that has jurisdiction."

However, the City Charter makes no provision for a reversal of the verdict on appeal. It provides that upon conviction of a crime, a city official must be replaced regardless of the possibility of future litigation.

A new borough president will be selected by Manhattan's six city councilmen as soon as a special meeting is arranged. Five of them are Democrats.

The guilty verdict came in only four hours and 35 minutes, almost five months to the day after Jack's first trial ended in a hung jury. The original jurors deadlocked 8-4 for his conviction July 7 and were discharged after nearly 35 hours.

French Atomic Striking Force Wins Approval

PARIS (AP)—France finally decided Tuesday to pay the full price for membership in the world's atomic club—an independent, exclusively national nuclear striking force.

The National Assembly gave its backhanded consent to President Charles de Gaulle's plan for a $1.2-billion striking force when the government's opposition again failed to muster enough votes behind a motion of censure against the government.

It was the third and final time this had happened in the Natonal Assembly. Under the Fifth Republics' parliamentary procedure, this was enough to override the Senate, which had twice rejected the project, and enact the bill into law.

The opposition marshaled only 215 votes, far less than the 277 needed for the censure motion, which would have overthrown Premier Michel Debre's Cabinet. On the two earlier readings, the opposition was 207 and 214 respectively.

Under the Fifth Republic, a bill is considered adopted if a motion of censure involving the project fails to pass. If the Senate disagrees, the Assembly has the final word on a third reading.

The bill is designed to give France its own nuclear deterrent with the controls all in De Gaulle's hands. It provides for a stock of French-built atomic bombs—perhaps hydrogen bombs later—and French planes, naval craft and missiles to deliver them.

FBI Agents Enter Chicago Vote Probe

CHICAGO (UPI) — FBI agents have joined the investigation of Chicago votes which Republicans claim were stolen for President-elect John F. Kennedy, it was revealed Tuesday.

The Justice Department said in Washington that the FBI is looking into alleged irregularities that "appear to be a violation' of federal election laws in both Illinois and Texas.

A Justice Department spokesman said the investigation was ordered after a "substantial number" of complaints had been made.

School Boycott At New Orleans Grows Weaker

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — The segregation boycott of William Frantz School grew steadily weaker Tuesday while women pickets reacted with tossed eggs and insults.

Police barricaded a block-square area around the school and questioned scores of persons in an attempt to find the vandals who damaged a minister's empty home near the school.

The quarantine of the school neighborhood reduced the amount of jeering and catcalls 23 white children heard as they returned to William Frantz classes, the greatest number of whites since token integration began in New Orleans Nov. 14.

Demonstrators achieved some of the revenge they sought against James and Daisey Gabrielle, whose daughter, Yolanda, 6, has attended classes throughout the school crisis xcept for one day.

Gabrielle, an employe of the City Sewerage and Water Department, announced he was quitting Dec. 15 because fellow workers heckled him.

New Orleans state legislators, the New Orleans States-Item said, prepared to ask members of the Orleans Parish School Board to resign.

"I don't see any way for the schools to be financed unless the school board steps aside," said Rep. Risley C. Triche, a floor leader for Gov. Jimmie H. Davis.

On their part, the board members filed a suit in U. S. District Court asking that New Orleans banks containing state funds show cause why school board checks should not be honored.

The legislature froze state funds in New Orleans so the board could not pay bills.

Vandals tossed a brick through a window in the church-owned house formerly occupied by the Rev. Lloyd Foreman, dumped red paint inside and on the porch, porch and damaged a room air conditioner. Foreman moved from the house after demonstrators made normal life there impossible. He had taken his daughter to school through shouting and shoving pickets.

Soviet Denounced As 'Hypocritical'

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP) —The United States accused the Soviet Union Tuesday of hiding under the "false banner of liberation" while heading the largest colonial empire in the world.

In a slashing attack on Soviet anticolonial activities, U. S. Ambassador James J. Wadsworth told the U. N. General Assembly the Kremlin is "the arch practitioner of this new and lethal colonialism." He called the Soviet role "cynical and hypocritical."

Joining in the long and bitter debate on colonialism, Wadsworth said the Soviet Union had appeared in its true colors last Sunday morning when it vetoed the membership application of the new African country, Mauritania.

"This veto, a bare-faced attempt to blackmail the Security Council into accepting a package deal," he said, "has effectively prevented Mauritania from achieving its full status and rights in the community of nations."

First Photos Of A-Bombs That Hit Japan Released

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The United States, despite State Department misgivings, added a 15-year-old footnote to history Tuesday by releasing the first pictures of the type of atomic bombs dropped on Hiroshima and Nagasaki.

Ironically, the photographs were made public on the eve of the 19th anniversary of Pearl Harbor —the Japanese sneak attack which plunged America into war and led eventually to development of mankind's most terrible weapon.

Two bombs were involved—the "little boy" type which smashed Hiroshima and the "fat man" variety which devastated Nagasaki a few days later. The only two nuclear bombs ever dropped in anger, they killed thousands of Japanese and brought the war to a swift end.

Government records showed the Hiroshima blast left 70,000 dead and missing and 70,000 injured. They fixed the Nagasaki toll at 36,000 dead and missing and 40,000 injured. Officials said the figures were obtained in 1957, however, and may have been revised since.

The pictures were released by the Atomic Energy Commission and the Defense Department with the State Department going along reluctantly. Officials said they had been withheld since 1945 because of possible diplomatic backfires particularly in Japan.

The Hiroshima bomb was 120 inches long and only 28 inches in diameter, resulting in its "little boy" nickname. It weighed 9,000 pounds. The Nagasaki "fat man" weapon was 128 inches long, 60 inches in diameter and weighed 10,000 pounds.

Small Decline In Business Spending Seen Next Year

WASHINGTON (AP)—The uncertain state of the economy was reflected Tuesday in a new government report. It forecast a modest decline early next year in business spending for expansion and modernization.

The report said business expects to spend $34.9 billion, on an annual basis, for new plant and equipment in the first three months of 1961. This would be a drop of 2 per cent from the estimated October-December level of $35.6 billion.

Some economists were encouraged because the indicated cutback was not more severe. However, they conceded a further gathering of recession clouds during the next few weeks could prompt sharper cuts later.

Already this year, businessmen have lowered their spending sights considerably. Back in June, for example, the government reported capital outlays in the July-September quarter were expected to hit an annual rate of $37.5 billion. The new report shows actual July-September spending at a rate of $35.9 billion.

The new report was based on a survey of all types of firms taken in late October and November by the Commerce Department and Securities and Exchange Commission.

For all of 1960, the report estimated, plant and equipment spending will total about $35.7 billion. This would represent a gain of 10 per cent over 1959 but would be 4 per cent lower than the spending level forecast early in the year.

For the first three months of 1961, the report indicated little change in the current rate of capital investment by manufacturers.

GOP Plans To Act As Demo "Governor"

NEW YORK (AP) — Rep. Charles A. Halleck, R-Ind., House minority leader, said Tuesday night the congressional opposition to the Kennedy administration will not drag its feet just for the sake of opposition.

The Republicans, he said, will be cooperative but at the same time will guard against any attempt by the Democratic government to "take corners too fast."

"We will be a responsible opposition," Halleck said in a speech prepared for the 23rd annual dinner of the Tax Foundation.

There was no indication that Kennedy planned to visit U.N. headquarters after the breakfast at a midtown New York hotel. There also was no word that he intended to confer with members of the U.S. delegation, headed by Ambassador James J. Wadsworth.

As far as U.N. officials are concerned, the Kennedy-Hammarskjold meeting is strictly private—not even formally announced in advance. There were reports that Undersecretary Ralph J. Bunche, top American in the secretariat, might see Kennedy but Bunche would not comment.

Diplomats here said there was little doubt that the Congo problem would hold a top place in the discussions. This of course, would include the U.N. financial crisis caused mainly by the costly U.N. operation in the Congo.

Task Force Expanded

NEW YORK (AP)—A task force set up by President-elect John F. Kennedy to study the depressed areas problem will meet Friday in Charleston, W. Va., with its membership expanded from 11 to 17.

Labor Group Urges Kennedy Back Tax Cut

WASHINGTON (AP)—A major segment of organized labor urged President-elect John F. Kennedy Tuesday to sponsor a broad, temporary tax cut as a "direct attack on economic stagnation."

That is the top item on a long list of objectives proposed for the incoming national administration at a meeting here of the Executive Committee of the AFL-CIO Industrial Union Department.

This department, headed by President Walter Reuther of the Auto Workers Union, claims about seven million members, mostly factory workers.

Declaring the nation is again in a "full-blown recession," its policy statement said a direct attack on economic sluggishness is the "best way to reverse current unemployment, budget and growth trends.'

"First and foremost," it said, "the nation needs high velocity dollars in the hands of the average consumer. To this end the IUD urges a broad-based, temporary tax cut aimed at increasing the net spendable income of America's great mass of wage and salary earners."

The statement did not mention what type of taxes should be cut, or how much or for how long. Presumably a cut in income taxes was meant. The AFL-CIO group said $10 billion compensating taxes could be raised by plugging tax loopholes.

The statement said unemployment has reached a 20-year record for November of approximately four million, and is headed toward five million in January when Kennedy will be inaugurated.

The Labor Department reported, meanwhile, that most employers expect a net decrease in job levels by mid-January.

A survey showed an increase in the number of areas classed by the government as having substantial labor surplus, meaning an idle rate of over 6 per cent of the work force.

The number of such areas has grown to 51, or more than a third of the nation's major production centers. The number was 32 a year earlier and 83 in November 1958 in the recession.

Kennedy Baby To Be Baptized Thursday

WASHINGTON (AP)—John F. Kennedy Jr., the nation's most famous baby, will be baptized Thursday in the chapel of Georgetown University Hospital.

Only his parents, President-elect John F. Kennedy and his wife, Jacqueline, and a few others, will be there to watch Father Martin Casey administer the sacrament of baptism of the Roman Catholic Church. Father Casey is pastor of Holy Trinity Church in Georgetown.

The child will wear the same dress the father wore when he was baptized.

Mrs. Charles L. Bartlett will be godmother to the infant. She is the wife of the Washington correspondent of the Chattanooga Times. The Bartletts are good friends of the Kennedys, and introduced Kennedy to Jacqueline Bouvier who became his wife.

Bartlett will act as proxy for the boy's godfather, Stanislas Radziwill, a Polish prince who lives in London and is married to Mrs. Kennedy's sister.

Jack Convicted In Second Trial

NEW YORK (AP)—Manhattan Borough President Hulan Jack was convicted Tuesday in a retrial of conflict-of-interest charges. The jurys' verdict costs him his $25,000-a-year post, the highest municipal office in the land held by a Negro.

Jack was visibly stunned by the verdict. He swallowed hard and left the courtroom in a daze.

"Im' very disappointed in the verdict handed down this evening," he later told reporters. "I say to all of you I'm fully convinced of my innocence and it will be established some day."

Jack, 55, can receive misdemeanor jail sentences totaling three years under the conviction, plus $1,500 in fines. Sentencing was scheduled for Jan. 16.

The conviction, for accepting an apartment remodeling job from a city business client, climaxed a series of scandals currently besetting the Democratic city administration.

Defense attorney Carson De Witt Baker told newsmen outside the General Sessions courthouse: "There will be an appeal to every court in the nation that has jurisdiction."

However, the City Charter makes no provision for a reversal of the verdict on appeal. It provides that upon conviction of a crime, a city official must be replaced regardless of the possibility of future litigation.

A new borough president will be selected by Manhattan's six city councilmen as soon as a special meeting is arranged. Five of them are Democrats.

The guilty verdict came in only four hours and 35 minutes, almost five months to the day after Jack's first trial ended in a hung jury. The original jurors deadlocked 8-4 for his conviction July 7 and were discharged after nearly 35 hours.

French Atomic Striking Force Wins Approval

PARIS (AP)—France finally decided Tuesday to pay the full price for membership in the world's atomic club—an independent, exclusively national nuclear striking force.

The National Assembly gave its backhanded consent to President Charles de Gaulle's plan for a $1.2-billion striking force when the government's opposition again failed to muster enough votes behind a motion of censure against the government.

It was the third and final time this had happened in the Natonal Assembly. Under the Fifth Republics' parliamentary procedure, this was enough to override the Senate, which had twice rejected the project, and enact the bill into law.

The opposition marshaled only 215 votes, far less than the 277 needed for the censure motion, which would have overthrown Premier Michel Debre's Cabinet. On the two earlier readings, the opposition was 207 and 214 respectively.

Under the Fifth Republic, a bill is considered adopted if a motion of censure involving the project fails to pass. If the Senate disagrees, the Assembly has the final word on a third reading.

The bill is designed to give France its own nuclear deterrent with the controls all in De Gaulle's hands. It provides for a stock of French-built atomic bombs—perhaps hydrogen bombs later—and French planes, naval craft and missiles to deliver them.

FBI Agents Enter Chicago Vote Probe

CHICAGO (UPI) — FBI agents have joined the investigation of Chicago votes which Republicans claim were stolen for President-elect John F. Kennedy, it was revealed Tuesday.

The Justice Department said in Washington that the FBI is looking into alleged irregularities that "appear to be a violation' of federal election laws in both Illinois and Texas.

A Justice Department spokesman said the investigation was ordered after a "substantial number" of complaints had been made.

School Boycott At New Orleans Grows Weaker

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — The segregation boycott of William Frantz School grew steadily weaker Tuesday while women pickets reacted with tossed eggs and insults.

Police barricaded a block-square area around the school and questioned scores of persons in an attempt to find the vandals who damaged a minister's empty home near the school.

The quarantine of the school neighborhood reduced the amount of jeering and catcalls 23 white children heard as they returned to William Frantz classes, the greatest number of whites since token integration began in New Orleans Nov. 14.

Demonstrators achieved some of the revenge they sought against James and Daisey Gabrielle, whose daughter, Yolanda, 6, has attended classes throughout the school crisis xcept for one day.

Gabrielle, an employe of the City Sewerage and Water Department, announced he was quitting Dec. 15 because fellow workers heckled him.

New Orleans state legislators, the New Orleans States-Item said, prepared to ask members of the Orleans Parish School Board to resign.

"I don't see any way for the schools to be financed unless the school board steps aside," said Rep. Risley C. Triche, a floor leader for Gov. Jimmie H. Davis.

On their part, the board members filed a suit in U. S. District Court asking that New Orleans banks containing state funds show cause why school board checks should not be honored.

The legislature froze state funds in New Orleans so the board could not pay bills.

Vandals tossed a brick through a window in the church-owned house formerly occupied by the Rev. Lloyd Foreman, dumped red paint inside and on the porch, porch and damaged a room air conditioner. Foreman moved from the house after demonstrators made normal life there impossible. He had taken his daughter to school through shouting and shoving pickets.

Soviet Denounced As 'Hypocritical'

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP)—The United States accused the Soviet Union Tuesday of hiding under the "false banner of liberation" while heading the largest colonial empire in the world.

In a slashing attack on Soviet anticolonial activities, U. S. Ambassador James J. Wadsworth told the U. N. General Assembly the Kremlin is "the arch practitioner of this new and lethal colonialism." He called the Soviet role "cynical and hypocritical."

Joining in the long and bitter debate on colonialism, Wadsworth said the Soviet Union had appeared in its true colors last Sunday morning when it vetoed the membership application of the new African country, Mauritania.

"This veto, a bare-faced attempt to blackmail the Security Council into accepting a package deal," he said, "has effectively prevented Mauritania from achieving its full status and rights in the community of nations."

First Photos Of A-Bombs That Hit Japan Released

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The United States, despite State Department misgivings, added a 15-year-old footnote to history Tuesday by releasing the first pictures of the type of atomic bombs dropped on Hiroshima and Nagasaki.

Ironically, the photographs were made public on the eve of the 19th anniversary of Pearl Harbor—the Japanese sneak attack which plunged America into war and led eventually to development of mankind's most terrible weapon.

Two bombs were involved—the "little boy" type which smashed Hiroshima and the "fat man" variety which devastated Nagasaki a few days later. The only two nuclear bombs ever dropped in anger, they killed thousands of Japanese and brought the war to a swift end.

Government records showed the Hiroshima blast left 70,000 dead and missing and 70,000 injured. They fixed the Nagasaki toll at 36,000 dead and missing and 40,000 injured. Officials said the figures were obtained in 1957, however, and may have been revised since.

The pictures were released by the Atomic Energy Commission and the Defense Department with the State Department going along reluctantly. Officials said they had been withheld since 1945 because of possible diplomatic backfires particularly in Japan.

The Hiroshima bomb was 120 inches long and only 28 inches in diameter, resulting in its "little boy" nickname. It weighed 9,000 pounds. The Nagasaki "fat man" weapon was 128 inches long, 60 inches in diameter and weighed 10,000 pounds.

Small Decline In Business Spending Seen Next Year

WASHINGTON (AP)—The uncertain state of the economy was reflected Tuesday in a new government report. It forecast a modest decline early next year in business spending for expansion and modernization.

The report said business expects to spend $34.9 billion, on an annual basis, for new plant and equipment in the first three months of 1961. This would be a drop of 2 per cent from the estimated October-December level of $35.6 billion.

Some economists were encouraged because the indicated cutback was not more severe. However, they conceded a further gathering of recession clouds during the next few weeks could prompt sharper cuts later.

Already this year, businessmen have lowered their spending sights considerably. Back in June, for example, the government reported capital outlays in the July-September quarter were expected to hit an annual rate of $37.5 billion. The new report shows actual July-September spending at a rate of $35.9 billion.

The new report was based on a survey of all types of firms taken in late October and November by the Commerce Department and Securities and Exchange Commission.

For all of 1960, the report estimated, plant and equipment spending will total about $35.7 billion. This would represent a gain of 10 per cent over 1959 but would be 4 per cent lower than the spending level forecast early in the year.

For the first three months of 1961, the report indicated little change in the current rate of capital investment by manufacturers.

GOP Plans To Act As Demo "Governor"

NEW YORK (AP) — Rep. Charles A. Halleck, R-Ind., House minority leader, said Tuesday night the congressional opposition to the Kennedy administration will not drag its feet just for the sake of opposition.

The Republicans, he said, will be cooperative but at the same time will guard against any attempt by the Democratic government to "take corners too fast."

"We will be a responsible opposition," Halleck said in a speech prepared for the 23rd annual dinner of the Tax Foundation.

Foreign Missionary Experts Hit Apathy

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Foreign missionary experts prodded the United States Tuesday to take sides with reform struggles in backward lands, and not drift along condoning the status quo.

A comprehensive analysis of conditions in missionary areas questioned whether this country was adequately lending its support to such efforts for progress.

Declaring that great masses of oppressed humanity are now rising up to demand economic freedom, economic opportunity and personal dignity, the study said: "Their movement is chaotic, inchoate, turbulent. The movement is the key to the future."

The report, presented to the triennial General Assembly of the National Council of Churches, suggested that American apathy to the plight of others may have contributed to Communist inroads in Cuba, and may lead to similar results elsewhere.

"Do we continue our own creative revolution for their sakes and ours?' the report asked. "Or does our luxury lead us to becoming defenders of the status quo, bypassed by history?"

For example, the study noted reports of massive human suffering in northeastern Brazil, and said: "What reaction have we show if it becomes another Cuba? Do we really care for people as people?'

The report was presented by the national council's Division of Foreign Missions, headed by the Rev. Virgil A. Sly, of Indianapolis, Ind., and including representatives from Protestant and Orthodox denominations.

They have 10,234 foreign missionaries overseas.

A special report on Cuba, based on findings of Dr. Howard W. Yoder, of New York, a Latin-American mission specialist, said the "social revolution was long overdue" there and cited its gains in schools, housing and employment.

The report said Cuba has become a Red base in the Caribbean, but it still is not clear whether Cuba is controlled by Communists, although it seems well on the road to becoming a full-fledged Soviet satellite.

Cuban Diplomat Reports Attack

WASHINGTON (AP)—A Cuban career diplomat, who said he has refused to return to Cuba, charged Tuesday he had been assaulted, cut and threatened with death by Cuban Ambassador Quintin Pino Machado.

The charge was made by Felix Enrique Hurtado, former alternate delegate to the Inter-American Economic and Social Council. Pino is ambassador to the council, a part of the Organization of American States.

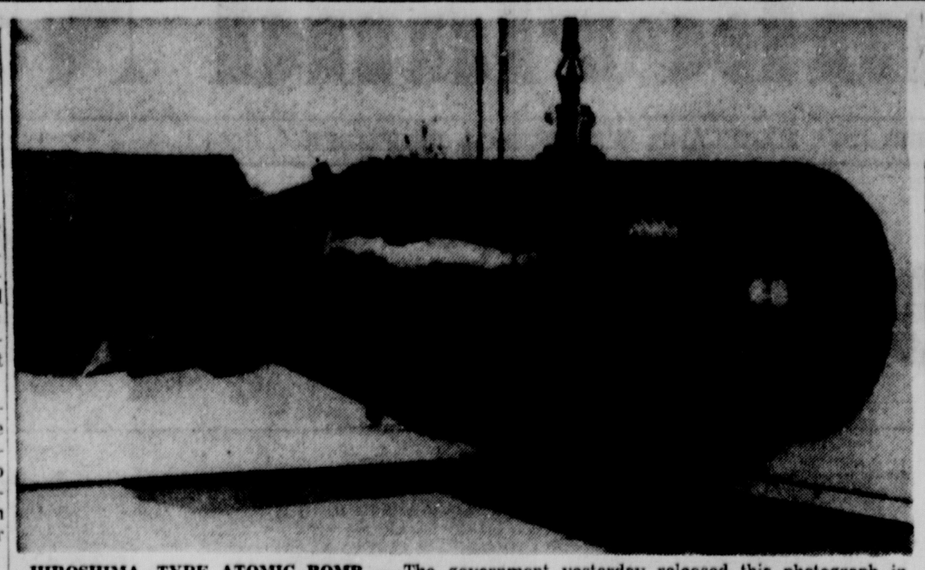

Pino was not available for comment on the charge, made by Hurtado in a formal statement at a news conference. The Washington police, however, are known to be investigating the case.

Cloud Shot Delayed

WASHINGTON (AP)—Unfavorable weather forced postponement Tuesday of plans to fire rockets into the sky at 5:10 p. m., to spread huge orange-yellow clouds visible from Maine to Florida.

The civilian space agency said the tests, which could mean a field day for amateur photographers, now are tentatively scheduled for Wednesday afternoon.

HIROSHIMA - TYPE ATOMIC BOMB — The government yesterday released this photograph in Washington and said it shows a nuclear weapon of the "Little Boy" type, the kind detonated over Hiroshima, Japan, in World War II. The bomb is 28 inches in diameter and 120 inches long. It weighed about 9,000 pounds and had a yield equivalent to approximately 20,000 tons of high explosive. Authorities described this as the first nuclear weapon ever detonated.

Action To Seal Credit Sales Tax Leak Urged

BALTIMORE (AP)—Millions of dollars a year escape the Maryland treasury through loopholes in state laws governing retail sales on credit, a loan department official said Tuesday.

John W. Dallam, deputy administrator of loan laws, made the observation at a meeting of a legislative committee trying to rewrite those laws.

But Sen. Joseph A. Bertorelli, D-Balto 1st, said the problem is so complex that the committee, which he has, "can only hope to scratch the surface."

Before asking Dallam to return next week with drafts of proposed remedial legislation, the committee heard the deputy administrator describe abuses and loopholes of present laws.

Millions are now lost because so many merchants violate the state's sales tax law, he said. He identified these merchants as retail installment sellers or persons who buy a retail installment contract from the seller at a discount, then collect the full price—plus interest—from the purchaser of the product.

Dallam has said there are 80,000 persons doing business under this arrangement in Maryland. They sell everything from automobiles to zinnias and include all types from fly-by-night vacuum cleaner salesmen to "the biggest and holiest" names in the community.

"All too often the installment seller doesn't keep books. He collects the sales tax from the buyer and doesn't pay it to the state, and when the comptroller looks for him he's gone out West to do business there," said Dallam.

"The only way to handle this thing is to license him, bond him and supervise him," he declared. "Unless you license him and bond him, you have no control over him."

Dallam proposed licensing fees of $5 a year for each salesman doing retail installment business and $250 for each store.

"This would mean $3.5 million a year in revenues to the state," he said.

Dallam promised to return before the committee next week with drafts of recommended legislation for the General Assembly convening Jan. 4 in Annapolis.

Besides retail installment selling, he said it would include proposals on amending small loan laws, which involve the lending of money directly to the customer, and regulating the revolving credit business.

Small Town Churches Share In $459,000 Estate

BALTIMORE (AP)—The bulk of a $459,000 estate left by a bachelor who died within two weeks of his 100th birthday will go to 125 Catholic churches in small Maryland communities.

The estate was left by Charles Carroll McColgan, an investor in real estate, who died in 1957.

Circuit Court Judge Anselm Sodaro has signed a decree making a final interpretation of McColgan's will, and a stimpulation entered into by church authorities and executors of the estate has identified the churches involved.

Attorneys for the executors took the case to court for final interpretation of the lay language which McColgan had insisted on using instead of more legalistic terms.

Samuel J. Fisher, court master, said McColgan had desired especially to leave his estate to benefit schools of Catholic churches in Maryland communities of less than 1,700 inhabitants. Fisher ruled the will meant mission churches or chapels as well as churches with resident pastors.

The court adopted Fisher's ruling.

The court ruled shares in the estate go to 53 churches in the archdiocese of Baltimore, 54 in Montgomery County and Southern Maryland under the archdiocese of Washington, and 18 Eastern Shore churches under the archdiocese of Wilmington.

The gifts will be paid to the three archbishops for disbursement to the churches for use mainly in paying off any indebtedness on parish schools, or for general church purposes where there are no school obligations.

McColgan left $50,000 to Mrs. Katherine A. Robb, who had nursed him, and $10,000 to Mrs. Edward McColgan Walzl.

Charity bequests of $1,500 each also were made to the Little Sisters of the Poor, St. Mary's Female Orphan Asylum, St.Vincent's Male Orphan Asylum and St.Vincents' Infant Orphan Asylum.

Budget Surplus Tops Forecast

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The government's 1960 budget surplus has turned out to be $156 million higher than preliminary figures indicated, the Treasury reported Tuesday.

Final totals for budget spending and revenue indicated a revenue surplus of $1,224,047,421.04.

Revenues totaled $78,457,432,872.73, or $90 million more than was estimated in mid-July. Expenditures were $76,539,412,798.99, or $66 million less than the earlier figure.

Initially, the Treasury had reckoned that this first budget surplus in three years would run to $1,068,101,353.

Eisenhower, who has shunned contact with his own predecessor, Harry S. Truman seemed to have gone out of his way to make Kennedy feel at home in what soon will be the Democratic senator's home.

In talking with reporters afterwards, Kennedy identified the gold outflow from the United States as one specific problem that figured in his talks with the President.

He said the discussions covered a wide range of problems the new administration will face when it takes office, as well as some which may require action before he assumes the presidency.

Jackie, Baby Ready To Leave Hospital

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Mrs. John F. Kennedy, wife of the president elect, got good news from her doctors Tuesday.

She was told she may leave Georgetown Hospital with her infant son "whenever she wants."

Dr. Edward B. Broocks, the babys' pediatrician, paid a call on Mrs. Kennedy around noon Tuesday to discuss her departure from the hospital.

He later told Mrs. Kennedy that the baby is gaining weight and will be ready to leave "whenever she is ready to go."

The Kennedys have tentatively set Friday as a target date to leave the hospital and depart for Palm Beach, Fla., for a holiday stay.

Dr. Edward B. Broocks, the babys' pediatrician, paid a call on Mrs. Kennedy around noon Tuesday to discuss her departure from the hospital.

He later told Mrs. Kennedy that the baby is gaining weight and will be ready to leave "whenever she is ready to go."

Woman To Woman

By PATRICIA McCORMACK

NEW YORK (UPI) — You've heard the saying — "it's the thought, not the gift, that counts."

With a little help from local children's organizations, a group of New York television and radio personalities have figured out a way to make both the thought and the gift count.

It's done through an organization called "Christmas for Kids."

"We call it Christmas for Kids, but it's really Christmas for us," writes Garry Moore in the current Christmas for Kids letter.

"It's one of the best ways I know to remember friends in the true spirit of Christmas."

The organization's Christmas shopping guide lists 12 non-sectarian charities for children only and nearly 50 different things a $5, $10, $15 or $25 check will do.

For example, $10 will provide warm mittens for 15 3-year-old children at the Bethlehem day nursery — or 1,000 cakes of soap for children's showers at the Church of All Nations Neighborhood House.

A gift of $25 buys a specially-constructed tricycle for a handicapped child or a week's shore vacation for a mother and child.

And $5, the giver donates a party of 15 children with ice cream, cookies and pop at the Neighborhood House in Manhattan's West-Side tenement area.

With the "shopping guide" for such presents is an order blank. Jay Jackson, radio and television announcer, said it works this way:

"You pick the charities you like best and make out the checks to them. We act as a clearing house and send the checks to each charity.

"The charity, in turn, sends a note of thanks to you and a note to your friend, telling him how much your gift, in his name, means to a child.

"And the kids realize what grown ups mean by '. . . Good will to men.' Isn't that what Christmas is really all about?"

Jackson, of Manhasset, Long Island, said he and his wife, Ann, got to thinking about Christmas for kids five years ago when they received a silver dish from a friend. The note that came with it read:

"This is the last Christmas gift of this sort that you will receive from me. From now on my gift to you will be to a charity devoted to children."

"And I got to thinking," Jackson said. "Christmas celebrates the birth of the child and it should be a time of joy for him, and for remembering children."

So with Jim Lehner, a friend and writer, Jackson borrowed the idea in the note as a way to give Christmas back to children.

They've been working on it ever since and not one cent is deducted for expenses. An ad agency, for example, donated a television work shop as an office, rent free.

Other notables involved in Christmas for Kids include Faye Emerson, Arlene Francis, Milton Caniff, Steve Allen.

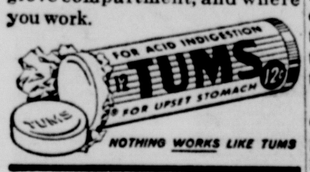

And how do the agencies helped by Christmas for Kids feel about it. Here are some excerpts from letters announcing the gifts to friends named by donors:

—From a North Shore Child Guidance Association: "Your gift will provide play therapy material and equipment for psychological testing of ten emotionally disturbed children. You have no idea of the havoc one emotionally disturbed child can wreak on materials."

—From the Westchester Children's Association: "You have given coke and cookies for one month for our boys' therapy group as a Christmas remembrance."

Civil Defense Criticized

EASTON, Md. (AP)—Richmond W. Hill, Talbot County civil defense director, Tuesday disclosed a letter to Gov. Tawes containing sweeping criticism of state and national civil defense.

In his letter, Hill described the civil defense program as a "waste of money" and "obsolete," and urged that the operation be turned over to the U. S. Army.

Hill referred to recent statements by Gen. Lyman L. Lemnitzer, former Army chief of staff, who contended that the U. S. could not cope with an all-out missile attack under present circumstances.

"Why, then," Hill asked, "should we continue to spend state and federal money building a statewide and national civil defense bureaucracy?"

Hill's letter recommended five basic steps for creating an effective civil defense:

1. A master plan coordinated by the Army should be created for the whole country.

2. Authorities should decide whether a full-scale shelter program is necessary.

3. Present evacuation plans should be re-examined to determine whether they are now obsolete.

4. Authorities should consider the possibility of compulsory civil defense training for all citizens.

5. Civil defense efforts of other nations — especially the Soviet Union — should be studied.

Hill cited the State civil defense headquarters at Pikesville as an example of particularly poor planning. If Baltimore were attacked, he said, Pikesville probably would be within the blast area.

The civil defense director said Gov. Tawes has replied that the matter would be turned over to Lloyd B. Simpkins, executive assistant to the governor.

Psychiatric Training Plan Is Approved

BALTIMORE (AP)—A committee of the American Medical Association has approved three-year psychiatric training programs at Marylands' two largest mental hospitals.

The approval for the programs at Spring Grove and Springfield came after investigations by the residency review committee of the Council on Medical Education and Hospitals of the AMA.

Dr. Isadore Tuerk, commissioner of mental hygiene, said the approval will help Maryland attract more highly qualified physicians for training and aid in retaining those already serving on hospital staffs.

Dr. Tuerk said the action "represents a milestone in the progress of the Department of Mental Hygiene toward providing the best possible care for the people of Maryland."

The commissioner noted that only 49 of 260 state hospitals in the nation have three-year approved residency training programs.

Springfield State Hospital in Sykesville previously had been approved for only two years of residency training. The approval at Spring Grove, located in Catonsville, is simply an extension of the status the hospital has held for several years.

For a physician to receive certification in psychiatry, the American Board of Neurology and Psychiatry requires three years of approved residency training in psychiatry in addition to two years experience.

School Sites Urged

ROCKVILLE, Md. (AP) — The Montgomery County Board of Education has been told it should buy sites for 57 new schools within the next two years.

The program, presented to the board Monday night by Gardner B. Jordan, director of site acquisition, would provide land for 39 elementary schools, 12 junior high schools and 6 senior high schools.

Maryland News In Brief

BALTIMORE (AP) — A train engine hit a chlorine gas line in suburban Brooklyn Tuesday, and seven men were overcome by the deadly fumes. All were admitted to a hospital for treatment of irritated lungs.

The line was struck by a Baltimore and Ohio Railroad switching engine near the Food Machinery and Chemical Corporation, which owns the piping system.

Four railroad workers and four chemical firm employes were in the area. One of these was affected less severely than the seven who were overcome, and he was released immediately after being examined at the hospital.

BALTIMORE (AP) — Directors of Western Maryland Railway Company declared a quarterly dividend of 70 cents a share on first preferred cumulative seven per cent stock Tuesday.

Other dividends included 15 cents on first preferred cumulative five per cent, 40 cents on second preferred non-cumulative four per cent and 45 cents on common stock. All are payable Dec. 30 to stockholders of record at the close of business Dec. 19, 1960.

BALTIMORE (AP) — City firemen battled for more than six hours early Tuesday before controlling a five-alarm blaze which destroyed a variety store.

Thirty-nine pieces of equipment were used in fighting the stubborn blaze. Two firemen were treated for smoke inhalation and returned to duty. Residents in the area in the near northwest section of the city were roused by police from nearby apartments as a safety precaution.

A separate fire sent units to a north Baltimore apartment, where a 42-year-old woman was overcome by smoke in her living room. The woman, Mrs. Vola Benson, was brought to safety down a ladder raised to a second floor window and revived by mouth-to-mouth resuscitation before she was taken to Union Memorial Hospital.

ANNAPOLIS (AP) — Police said Terry Saxton Green III, 30, apparently fell asleep at the wheel of his car as he was driving along U.S. 50 a mile west of here Monday night. The car struck a guard rail and the 30-year-old Edgewater, Md., motorist was thrown from the vehicle and fatally injured.

BALTIMORE (AP) — Another eight-tenths of a mile section of the Baltimore Beltway will be opened to traffic Thursday, Gov. Tawes will do the ribbon cutting as the State Roads Commission opens the $465,000 segment of the dual-lane beltway between Ritchie Highway and the Glen Burnie By-Pass.

BALTIMORE (AP) — The fellow who took 35 racing pigeons from coops owned by Calvin J. Klasmeier has a tiger by the tail, so to speak. He can't let go.

Klasmeier told police the pigeons, valued at $1,000 and stolen sometime Monday, will fly back to the coops if they are released.

Two Held On Child Abandonment Charge

BALTIMORE (AP)—The mothers of two children found alone in a Baltimore apartment have been held in $1,000 bail each for grand jury action on charges of abandonment.

The children were found about 10:30 p. m. Monday. Jans Peter Sorenson, 3, was bound hand and foot. Karen White, 8 months, was found wedged between a crib and the wall and police said she may have fallen from the crib.

Olga Sorenson, 26, and Mary White, 22, appeared voluntarily at City Hospitals, where the children were taken by police. The women said they had been apartment hunting.

Later in Pine Street Court, the mothers sobbed as they pleaded guilty to charges of abandonment. The Sorenson woman pleaded innocent to a charge of assault by tying.

Lew Wallace, a Civil War general, wrote the best-selling novel, "Ben Hur."

Butler To Seek Another Term

BALTIMORE (AP) — Sen. John Marshall Butler said Tuesday he would seek re-election to a third term in 1962.

The Maryland Republican, back from a trip to Europe, ended speculation that he might retire after 12 years in the U.S. Senate with the announcement:

"I intend to run again."

Butler, in his first try for political office, was elected in 1950 in a bitter campaign that ended in defeat for Democrat Millard E. Tydings, a member of the Senate since 1929.

Butler was re-elected in 1956 by 53,000 votes over George P. Mahoney, who became the Democratic candidate after Tydings was forced by illness to withdraw.

The approval for the programs at Spring Grove and Springfield came after investigations by the residency review committee of the Council on Medical Education and Hospitals of the AMA.

Dr. Isadore Tuerk, commissioner of mental hygiene, said the approval will help Maryland attract more highly qualified physicians for training and aid in retaining those already serving on hospital staffs.

Dr. Tuerk said the action "represents a milestone in the progress of the Department of Mental Hygiene toward providing the best possible care for the people of Maryland."

The commissioner noted that only 49 of 260 state hospitals in the nation have three-year approved residency training programs.

Springfield State Hospital in Sykesville previously had been approved for only two years of residency training. The approval at Spring Grove, located in Catonsville, is simply an extension of the status the hospital has held for several years.

For a physician to receive certification in psychiatry, the American Board of Neurology and Psychiatry requires three years of approved residency training in psychiatry in addition to two years experience.

School Sites Urged

ROCKVILLE, Md. (AP) — The Montgomery County Board of Education has been told it should buy sites for 57 new schools within the next two years.

The program, presented to the board Monday night by Gardner B. Jordan, director of site acquisition, would provide land for 39 elementary schools, 12 junior high schools and 6 senior high schools.

Maryland News In Brief

BALTIMORE (AP) — A train engine hit a chlorine gas line in suburban Brooklyn Tuesday, and seven men were overcome by the deadly fumes. All were admitted to a hospital for treatment of irritated lungs.

The line was struck by a Baltimore and Ohio Railroad switching engine near the Food Machinery and Chemical Corporation, which owns the piping system.

Four railroad workers and four chemical firm employes were in the area. One of these was affected less severely than the seven who were overcome, and he was released immediately after being examined at the hospital.

BALTIMORE (AP) — Directors of Western Maryland Railway Company declared a quarterly dividend of 70 cents a share on first preferred cumulative seven per cent stock Tuesday.

Other dividends included 15 cents on first preferred cumulative five per cent, 40 cents on second preferred non-cumulative four per cent and 45 cents on common stock. All are payable Dec. 30 to stockholders of record at the close of business Dec. 19, 1960.

BALTIMORE (AP) — City firemen battled for more than six hours early Tuesday before controlling a five-alarm blaze which destroyed a variety store.

Thirty-nine pieces of equipment were used in fighting the stubborn blaze. Two firemen were treated for smoke inhalation and returned to duty. Residents in the area in the near northwest section of the city were roused by police from nearby apartments as a safety precaution.

A separate fire sent units to a north Baltimore apartment, where a 42-year-old woman was overcome by smoke in her living room. The woman, Mrs. Vola Benson, was brought to safety down a ladder raised to a second floor window and revived by mouth-to-mouth resuscitation before she was taken to Union Memorial Hospital.

ANNAPOLIS (AP) — Police said Terry Saxton Green III, 30, apparently fell asleep at the wheel of his car as he was driving along U.S. 50 a mile west of here Monday night. The car struck a guard rail and the 30-year-old Edgewater, Md., motorist was thrown from the vehicle and fatally injured.

BALTIMORE (AP) — Another eight-tenths of a mile section of the Baltimore Beltway will be opened to traffic Thursday. Gov. Tawes will do the ribbon cutting as the State Roads Commission opens the $465,000 segment of the dual-lane beltway between Ritchie Highway and the Glen Burnie By-Pass.

BALTIMORE (AP) — The fellow who took 35 racing pigeons from coops owned by Calvin J. Klasmeier has a tiger by the tail, so to speak. He can't let go.

Klasmeier told police the pigeons, valued at $1,000 and stolen sometime Monday, will fly back to the coops if they are released.

Two Held On Child Abandonment Charge

BALTIMORE (AP)—The mothers of two children found alone in a Baltimore apartment have been held in $1,000 bail each for grand jury action on charges of abandonment.

The children were found about 10:30 p. m. Monday. Jans Peter Sorenson, 3, was bound hand and foot. Karen White, 8 months, was found wedged between a crib and the wall and police said she may have fallen from the crib.

Olga Sorenson, 26, and Mary White, 22, appeared voluntarily at City Hospitals, where the children were taken by police. The women said they had been apartment hunting.

Later in Pine Street Court, the mothers sobbed as they pleaded guilty to charges of abandonment. The Sorenson woman pleaded innocent to a charge of assault by tying.

Lew Wallace, a Civil War general, wrote the best-selling novel, "Ben Hur."

Butler To Seek Another Term

BALTIMORE (AP) — Sen. John Marshall Butler said Tuesday he would seek re-election to a third term in 1962.

The Maryland Republican, back from a trip to Europe, ended speculation that he might retire after 12 years in the U.S. Senate with the announcement:

"I intend to run again."

Butler, in his first try for political office, was elected in 1950 in a bitter campaign that ended in defeat for Democrat Millard E. Tydings, a member of the Senate since 1929.

Butler was re-elected in 1956 by 53,000 votes over George P. Mahoney, who became the Democratic candidate after Tydings was forced by illness to withdraw.

Debate Urged To Settle 'Uncle Sam's' Grave Question

TROY, N. Y. (UPI)—A public debate by historians has been proposed to settle the question of the burial place of Samuel Wilson, the original of America's "Uncle Sam" symbol.

Thomas I. Gerson, a reporter for the Troy (N.Y.) Times Record and legislative chairman of the Troy Area Committee for Uncle Sam, said Monday he made the suggestion in a letter to Robert P. Early, managing editor of the Indianapolis (Ind.) star.

Both this Upstate New York city and the community of Merriam, Ind., claim the grave of Wilson and have asked Congress to proclaim the burial place a national monument.

Gerson said he made the appeal for a debate to the Star because an article on Samuel Wilson of Merriam, Ind., published in the newspaper Feb. 26, 1928, "apparently started this erroneous linkage" of Indiana's Wilson with Troy's Wilson.

"In these days when the image of America and 'Uncle Sam' is blurred at home and abroad, especially in Latin American countries—it is fitting and proper that we tell the truth about a great American patriarch," Gerson said.

It is believed the Troy Wilson was dubbed "Uncle Sam" by U.S. troops in the War of 1812 who saw the initials U. S. stamped on the meat Wilson supplied for the Army.

St. John's College Budget Over Million

ANNAPOLIS (AP)—Dr. Richard D. Weigle, president of St. John's College, said Monday the institution's budget has exceeded one million dollars for the first time in its history.

Dr. Weigle said the principal item in the $1,025,000 annual budget is approximately $265,000 for faculty salaries.

Army And Air Force In Dispute Over Stored Trucks

HARRISBURG, Pa. (AP)—The Harrisburg Evening News reported Monday the Army and Air Force are involved in a fiscal dispute over a batch of trucks which the Air Force wants, but the Army owns.

The dispute involves 140 trucks stored at nearby New Cumberland Army General Depot, as well as some stored at other Army collection points, the News said.

The trucks — special telephone line construction vehicles — were bought by the Army in 1952 during the Korean conflict. They have been stored in preservatives ever since, but are classed in A-1 condition.

When the Air Force indicated it wanted similar trucks during 1960, the Army offered 131 of them for $3,300 each. The Air Force inspected them and decided they were "like new" and are "acceptable for Air Force use."

But the Air Force balked at paying for them. Instead it contracted on April 1 for 63 new trucks at a cost of $5,800 each.

Auxiliary 281 Prepares Family Christmas Basket

Auxiliary 281, Order of the Ladies of United Commercial Travelers, held its annual Christmas party Saturday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel McKenzie, Park Heights, LaVale.

A brief business session was conducted by Mrs. Frances Shircliffe, senior counselor. Reports were given by Mrs. Maude McKenzie on the Thanksgiving basket for the needy family and by Mrs. Josephine Pfeiffer on the "Basket of Cheer" and candy being sold. It was decided to hold a shrimp feed after the January 7 meeting at the Girl Scout House.

Members of Council 179 were invited to attend.

Husbands and members of Council 179 joined with the Auxiliary following their business meeting at the Junior Order Hall. A comedy skit, "Mrs. Cushman and Her Unwanted Guest" was presented by Mrs. Katherine Kilroy, and Mrs. Nellie Fanelli. Mrs. James Orr was in charge of the program.

Each member brought canned goods for the Christmas basket for the needy family sponsored by the group and a Christmas wrapped package for each of the three children of the family. This has been the practice of the members for a number of years instead of the usual jingle gift exchange.

Mrs. H. C. Utterback won the special prize.

Members and guests attending were Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Utterback, Mrs. Joseph Snyder, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. James Brant, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Sirna, Mr. and Mrs. Roy E. Lafferty, Mrs. Robert Alstetter, Mr. and Mrs. Sam Taccino, Mr. and Mrs. Francis Koontz, Mr. and Mrs. James Beynon, Mrs. Frances Shircliffe, Mr. and Mrs. Garland Chaney, Mrs. James Orr, Mr. and Mrs. Silcox, Mrs. Jane Turner and Mr. and Mrs. John Pfeiffer.

North Ireland New Base For U.S. Business

BELFAST, Northern Ireland (UPI) — American businessmen are finding their way to this corner of Ireland to set up plants and sell their products throughout Europe and the British Commonwealth.

Northern Ireland, the six northeast counties of the island which are part of Britain rather than the Irish Republic, may seem far from customers in Portugal and Australia. But the U.S. firms established here are taking advantage of both the Sterling Area and the European Free Trade Association, which opens a vast market on the continent with lower tariffs than those applicable to American products made and shipped from the United States.

In addition to Britain, Portugal, Austria, Switzerland, Denmark, Sweden, and Norway belong to the EFTA or Outer Seven.

Many American firms choose to enter this market from Northern Ireland because of the aid offered by the Northern Ireland government, which is anxious to diversify the area's industry and cut unemployment. Its principal industries traditionally have been linen weaving and shipbuilding. The infusion of American plants is changing this.

The government offers capital grants of up to one-third the investment in plant and machinery, newly-built plants for rent or purchase, aid for training men, industrial fuel subsidies, and a host of other plans to aid American and other foreign businesses to get established.

Under the program, the government builds factories of various sizes and has a number available for rent. They range in size from 2,000 to 70,000 square feet.

Among the American companies taking advantage of the program are DuPont, Hughes Tool, Berkshire Knitting of Reading, Pa., Behr-Manning, and Bausch and Lomb.

Behr-Manning, the first American firm to set up operations in Northern Ireland, recently announced an expansion of the facilities built in 1952. It will increase the floor space in its government-built factory by half.

The Bridgeport Brass Co. of Bridgeport, Conn., will soon occupy another government - built factory in Lisburn, County Antrim, to make tire valves and valve accessories.

The Northern Ireland Ministry of Commerce said that U. S. firms stand to profit from markets other than the local and Outer Seven by establishing production here.

Plants here are in the Sterling Area, which means trade with British Commonwealth countries they enjoy imperial preference in tariffs.

"The operation of a U.S. firm whithin the Outer Seven and the vast Sterling Area give the U.S. manufacturere the inside track in competition, especially when utilizing the advantages that Northern Ireland is giving," a ministry statement said. "Important U.S. companies have already given weight to this belief by investing more than $50 million in their Northern Ireland operations."

NEW YORK (AP)—Two of the nation's major banks used the terms "mild" and "thin" Monday to describe the current economic dip.

The evaluations were made in the monthly business analyses of the First National City Bank and the Morgan Guaranty Trust Co., both of New York City.

First National said the business news of recent weeks has been mixed, "indicating on balance neither acceleration nor reversal of the mild downward trend."

It added that renewed decline in manufacturers' new orders and some further increase in unemployment provide evidence of continued weakness but contrasting indications of resiliency are found in the good showing of personal income, retail sales and construction contracts.

As 1960 enters its final month, said Morgan Guaranty Trust, "negative signs hold a thin margin of dominance in a business situation still reluctant to commit itself either to a deepening of the contraction or to resumption soon of an upward trend."

The bank feels that except for automobile sales and production reliable indications of strength are generally lacking and the weight of evidence suggests that slight easing persists in over-all economic activity."

"The stock market may be required to absorb additional tax and other selling in the immediate future but we believe it is near enough to a turning point to warrant buying of carefully selected issues for under - invested accounts," comments Standard & Poor's Corp.

Edmund W. Tabell of Walston & Co. predicts that after some possible further irregularity in December, the Dow Jones industrial average will advance to the upper part of the 600-645 area by January or February.

Visiting Ban Is Lifted At County Jail

Visiting hours will be resumed today at the County Jail, Sheriff Paul Haberlein said today.

A ban on visitors to prisoners in the jail was placed three weeks ago when a hole was found punched in the screening in the cage at the entrance to the cell-block.

Sheriff Haberlein had deputies "shake down" the jail to determine if any weapon had been slipped through, but none was found.

Prisoners were not allowed to receive any articles during that time but the sheriff said beginning tomorrow they may receive soap and other toiletry and clothing. No food will be allowed.

He said a former inmate who was in the jail at the time the one-inch hole was punched through the screening reported that a visitor had been slipping miniatures of whisky to a prisoner. The former inmate would not reveal their identities.

Visiting hours are from 2 to 4 p. m. on Tuesdays and Fridays.

Liberty Trust Votes Dividends

The board of directors of The Liberty Trust Company yesterday declared the regular semi-annual dividend of 40 cents per share on the shares outstanding plus a year-end dividend of 50 cents a share.

The dividend is payable January 10, 1961 to stockholders of record December 27, 1960.

Dividends declared out of earnings for 1960 amount to $1.30 on the $10 par shares of the bank's outstanding stock, which is equivalent to 13 per cent on the par value.

Baby Sitters To Hear Dr. Rita Brinker

The sixth in a series of classes for baby sitters, sponsored by the Recreation Department, will be held today at 4 p. m. in City Hall auditorium.

Dr. Rita Brinker will conduct a course on first aid, according to Mrs. Eva M. Hogan, assistant recreation director.

Tax Plan Favored By Mayor Keech

"It is certainly not fair to property owners in municipalities to have them pay the full county tax rate when they receive no benefits from any county services which are a duplication of services provided by the city."

So asserted Mayor J. Edwin Keech yesterday in a letter to Alan Beals, executive secretary of the Maryland Municipal League.

Beals had written Keech concerning the possibility of a regional meeting here for the City and Town Administration Section of the League. One purpose of the section is to further the work of the Technical Advisory Service of the League which helps to propose solutions to problems confronting municipalities. No charge is made for the advisory service.

In his letter, Keech said Cumberland would be glad to host such a regional meeting and offered facilities at City Hall for that purpose. The city received assistance from the Advisory Service in setting up its new job classification and compensation ordinances.

Keech took the opportunity to offer the subject of city-county taxes as a matter for discussion at meetings of the Administration Section. He said:

Under his plan, property owners in municipalities would be exempt from paying the $1 per $100 on the assessment for county tax purposes. County residents, in most instances, make use of city facilities without any charge and "I especially refer to the use of streets and recreation facilities," Keech said.

The Mayor added that some counties already have an allowance in the tax rate for properties located within municipalities and, he continued "I personally feel that we should have a statewide law to this effect if our municipalities are to survive."

Aldridge Given County Post

Playford Aldridge, Bedford Road, of the Personnel Department of the Amcelle plant of Celanese Fibers Company, yesterday was named a member of the newly-formed County Sanitary Commission by John J. Rowan, president of the Allegany County Board of Commissioners.

Aldridge is a former president of Local 1874, Textile Workers Union of America, AFL-CIO, and has been an employe of the Celanese firm for many years.

Rowan held up naming his appointee to the sanitary group in order to obtain additional data concerning the commission.

The other two members of the commission are Robert A. Reinhard and Alvin H. Rankin. Reinhard is a local businessman while Rankin, a former president of the Allegany-Garrett County Volunteer Firemen's Association resides in Frostburg.

Award Is Made In Land Case

A jury in Circuit Court yesterday awarded the Corriganville Volunteer Fire Company a total of $1,800 for land which the State Roads Commission used in connection with the new Mt. Savage Road through that community.

The jury visited the site of the land and heard testimony in the condemnation case before Chief Judge Morgan C. Harris before setting the amount of the award. Peter J. Carpenti represented the SRC while Milton Gerson was attorney for the fire company.

Police Investigating School Fire

City Police are investigating the cause of a fire set in the basement of Columbia Street School Monday night.

Detective Kenneth Morrissey said he was called to the school after East Side Fire Company answered an alarm about 7 p. m.

Morrissey said firemen found the fire was in two large containers of paper and refuse.

A window glass in the basement had been removed and entrance by the intruders had been gained. They left by a door on the main floor.

The school was filled with smoke from the burning barrels of waste and exhaust fans had to be used.

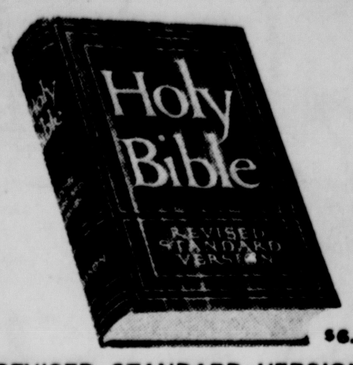

Morrissey said two boys are being sought in connection with setting the fires.

Neff Chairman Of Tax Study

Leonard Neff, director of the Cumberland Industrial Development Corporation, who was named as a member of an advisory committee to study the county's 10-year industrial tax exemption law, has been selected as chairman of the group.

A meeting of the unit will be held soon with Leslie J. Clark, attorney to the Allegany County Board of Commissioners, and John Stitely, county supervisor of assessments, to begin work on the program.

Visiting Ban Is Lifted At County Jail

Visiting hours will be resumed today at the County Jail, Sheriff Paul Haberlein said today.

A ban on visitors to prisoners in the jail was placed three weeks ago when a hole was found punched in the screening in the cage at the entrance to the cell-block.

Sheriff Haberlein had deputies "shake down" the jail to determine if any weapon had been slipped through, but none was found.

Prisoners were not allowed to receive any articles during that time but the sheriff said beginning tomorrow they may receive soap and other toiletry and clothing. No food will be allowed.

He said a former inmate who was in the jail at the time the one-inch hole was punched through the screening reported that a visitor had been slipping miniatures of whisky to a prisoner. The former inmate would not reveal their identities.

Visiting hours are from 2 to 4 p. m. on Tuesdays and Fridays.

Liberty Trust Votes Dividends

The board of directors of The Liberty Trust Company yesterday declared the regular semi-annual dividend of 40 cents per share on the shares outstanding plus a year-end dividend of 50 cents a share.

The dividend is payable January 10, 1961 to stockholders of record December 27, 1960.

Dividends declared out of earnings for 1960 amount to $1.30 on the $10 par shares of the bank's outstanding stock, which is equivalent to 13 per cent on the par value.

Baby Sitters To Hear Dr. Rita Brinker

The sixth in a series of classes for baby sitters, sponsored by the Recreation Department, will be held today at 4 p. m. in City Hall auditorium.

Dr. Rita Brinker will conduct a course on first aid, according to Mrs. Eva M. Hogan, assistant recreation director.

Tax Plan Favored By Mayor Keech

"It is certainly not fair to property owners in municipalities to have them pay the full county tax rate when they receive no benefits from any county services which are a duplication of services provided by the ctiy."

So asserted Mayor J. Edwin Keech yesterday in a letter to Alan Beals, executive secretary of the Maryland Municipal League.

Beals had written Keech concerning the possibility of a regional meeting here for the City and Town Administration Section of the League. One purpose of the section is to further the work of the Technical Advisory Service of the League which helps to propose solutions to problems confronting municipalities. No charge is made for the advisory service.

In his letter, Keech said Cumberland would be glad to host such a regional meeting and offered facilities at City Hall for that purpose. The city received assistance from the Advisory Service in setting up its new job classification and compensation ordinances.

Keech took the opportunity to offer the subject of city-county taxes as a matter for discussion at meetings of the Administration Section. He said:

Under his plan, property owners in municipalities would be exempt from paying the $1 per $100 on the assessment for county tax purposes. County residents, in most instances, make use of city facilities without any charge and "I especially refer to the use of streets and recreation facilities," Keech said.

The Mayor added that some counties already have an allowance in the tax rate for properties located within municipalities and, he continued "I personally feel that we should have a statewide law to this effect if our municipalities are to survive."

Aldridge Given County Post

Playford Aldridge, Bedford Road, of the Personnel Department of the Amcelle plant of Celanese Fibers Company, yesterday was named a member of the newly-formed County Sanitary Commission by John J. Rowan, president of the Allegany County Board of Commissioners.

Aldridge is a former president of Local 1874, Textile Workers Union of America, AFL-CIO, and has been an employe of the Celanese firm for many years.

Rowan held up naming his appointee to the sanitary group in order to obtain additional data concerning the commission.

The other two members of the commission are Robert A. Reinhard and Alvin H. Rankin. Reinhard is a local businessman while Rankin, a former president of the Allegany-Garrett County Volunteer Firemen's Association resides in Frostburg.

Award Is Made In Land Case

A jury in Circuit Court yesterday awarded the Corriganville Volunteer Fire Company a total of $1,800 for land which the State Roads Commission used in connection with the new Mt. Savage Road through that community.

The jury visited the site of the land and heard testimony in the condemnation case before Chief Judge Morgan C. Harris before setting the amount of the award. Peter J. Carpenti represented the SRC while Milton Gerson was attorney for the fire company.

Police Investigating School Fire

City Police are investigating the cause of a fire set in the basement of Columbia Street School Monday night.

Detective Kenneth Morrissey said he was called to the school after East Side Fire Company answered an alarm about 7 p. m.

Morrissey said firemen found the fire was in two large containers of paper and refuse.

A window glass in the basement had been removed and entrance by the intruders had been gained. They left by a door on the main floor.

The school was filled with smoke from the burning barrels of waste and exhaust fans had to be used.

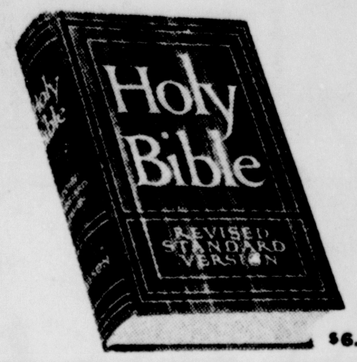

Morrissey said two boys are being sought in connection with setting the fires.

Neff Chairman Of Tax Study

Leonard Neff, director of the Cumberland Industrial Development Corporation, who was named as a member of an advisory committee to study the county's 10-year industrial tax exemption law, has been selected as chairman of the group.

A meeting of the unit will be held soon with Leslie J. Clark, attorney to the Allegany County Board of Commissioners, and John Stitely, county supervisor of assessments, to begin work on the program.

Potomac River Quality Improving

Some improvement in the quality of water in the North Branch of the Potomac River between Luke and Cumberland, is indicated in the Potomac River Quality Network, a publication of the Interstate Commission on the Potomac River Basin, for the water years 1958 and 1959.

This improvement was cited by Julian G. Patrick, Westernport, former chairman of the commission's Industrial Advisory Committee, who is serving the commission in a consulting capacity.

A study of the report shows these factors as indicators of the improvement:

Temperature averages are one degree lower because of the supplementation of the river flow by Savage River Dam.

Alkalinity has been reduced by the curtailment of alkaline wastes from the pulp and paper mill at Luke.

The river remains acid above Luke but is near neutral at Cumberland. Patrick pointed out that the trend toward acidity increases as alkaline wastes are reduced and acid mine wastes remain constant.

The percentage of dissolved oxygen for the water year 1958 (a water year extends from October 1 through September 30) is generally higher and even better for the water year 1959 except in the three warmest months of July, August and September.

Biochemical oxygen demand is lowest in cold February and highest in warm July, August and September, correlating the dissolved oxygen report.

Turbidity remains variable because there is no control over silting from strip mines and farms.

Patrick predicted that the organic load on the river will be lowered more during the next year because sanitary sewage from the towns of Westernport, and Piedmont, will be diverted from the river and treated at the Upper Potomac River Commission's waste treatment plant at Westernport before being discharged into the river.

In a further analysis of the water quality report, commission figures indicate that Wills Creek, which empties into the Potomac at Cumberland, is slowly changing from an acid to an alkaline stream.

This change probably results from mine drainage water cutting through limestone deposits as it makes its way through the Hoffman mine drainage tunnel and into Braddock Run which empties into Wills Creek, Patrick explained. He added that there is no way at this time to predict how long this alkaline condition will last.

In order to provide a more comprehensive picture of water sampling results throughout the Potomac Basin, the number of sampling stations has been increased from 41 to 72 and an effort is being made to add still more at strategic points, with all analyses being done on a standardized basis.

The next water year report, for example, will contain analyses, including bacteria count, of samples below the Cumberland Sewage Treatment Plant, which has been doing cooperative testing at two stations—Wiley Ford Bridge and below the treatment plant above Evitts Creek—on a regular schedule since May 1960.

Chicken For Lunch

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. Richard B. Russell, D-Ga., asked the Agriculture Department Tuesday to buy chickens for school lunches.

Russell wrote Secretary Ezra T Benson urging "a carefully planned trial program' to buy cut-up broilers with money for the School Lunch Act.

Moonlike craters, cinder cones, and ice caves, which pock 75 square miles of the Snake River Lava Plain in Idaho, from Craters of the Moon National Monument. The area lies along the Great Rift, a 16-mile series of fissures that have repeatedly spewed fiery rock.

Union Backs County School Building Plan

The proposed Allegany County school building program has been endorsed by Local 244, Cumberland Typographical Union.

In a letter to the Board of Allegany County Commissioners, Donald R. Beynon, union secretary-treasurer wrote the organization "heartily endorses the proposals made recently by the Allegany County Board of Education dealing with school construction for Allegany County.

"It is our opinion that education is of the utmost importance for the children of this county and that everything possible should be done to see that a proper and enlightening school program be carried out," the letter continues.

"This aim can be realized only if the proper facilities are made available to those charged with the responsibility of administering such a program.

"These facilities can be made available only through new construction to alleviate the crowded conditions now existing in most of the schools of Allegany County," the letter concludes.

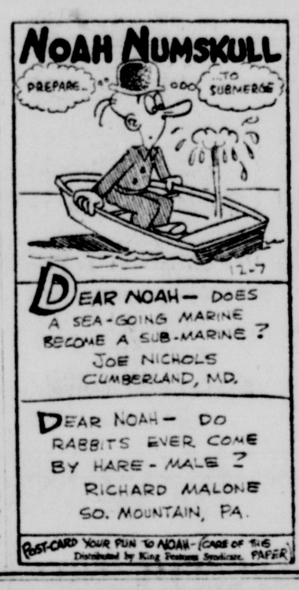

Suffers Blood Disease

SOLOTHURN, Switzerland (UPI)—Actor - director Gregory Ratoff, 63, said Tuesday he is in "very serious" condition because of a blood disease.

Ratoff has been treated for nearly three months by one of Switzerland's top blood disease specialists, Prof. Sven Moeschlin.

Doctors refused to comment on Ratoff's illness.

Cobey And Gunter Endorsed For New Judgeship

The Allegany County Bar Association yesterday unanimously endorsed W. Earle Cobey and William A. Gunter, two local attorneys, for the new judgeship in the Fourth Judicial Circuit which is comprised of Allegany, Garrett, Washington and Frederick counties.

A motion for the endorsements was made by Noel Speir Cook and seconded by Julius E. Schindler.

Cobey, a native of Frostburg, graduated from Beall High School, Mercersburg Academy, Princeton University and Harvard Law School.

Cobey is a past president of the Cumberland Kiwanis Club and is a member of the Masonic Bodies and Ali Ghan Shriners.

He has practiced law in Cumberland since 1932 and is a member of the law firm of Cobey, Carscaden, Gilchrist and Getty. Cobey is also president of the Fidelity Bank of Frostburg. He has been active in Democratic politics in Allegany County for many years. He resides at 819 Windsor Road, The Dingle.

Gunter, a veteran member of the Bar Association, is a former member of the Allegany County and State Board of Education, a former state senator from this county to the General Assembly and is a member of the law firm of Gunter and Geppert. He resides at 201 Washington Street.

The additional judge for the Fourth Judicial Circuit was provided as a result of an constitutional amendment which was voted upon during the general election November 8. The appointment of the new judge will be made by Gov. Tawes.

City Planning Clean-Up Project

The Mayor and Council yesterday authorized Street Commissioner John J. Long to:

Advertise for bids for the washing down of the City Hall rotunda and marble area;

Advertise for bids for painting the court room in the Public Safety Building, the auditorium, council chamber, rotunda and various offices in City Hall. Two coats of paint will be used with the city furnishing the paint;

Advertise for bids for furnishing and installing 10 2-lamp, 96-inch fluorescent lights for the ceiling of the council chamber.

Frowns On Projects

GANBOR, Maine (UPI) — The postal inspector explained patiently to a 73-year-old Bangor man that the Post Office frowns on do-it-yourself projects.

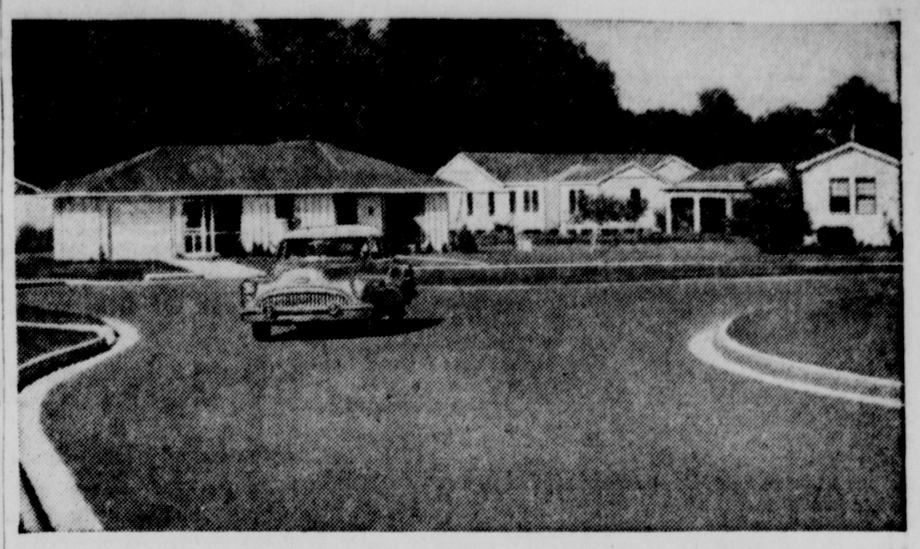

The elderly gentleman had accidentally dropped his old age pension check into a mailbox, and when police arrived he had already hammered the box from its post and was in the process of shaking out the contents.

The check was returned to him.

Report Tribal Deaths

DURBAN, South Africa (UPI)—Seventeen tribesmen were killed and 45 huts burned in tribal fighting in Pondoland last weekend, according to unofficial reports reaching here Tuesday.

The fighting was reported still in progress.

CROSS SECTION

Lasts longer than any other low-cost street . . . and it's the fastest-laid pavement there is!

Soil-cement can give your town good streets now. Soil-cement grows stronger year after year. It's the strongest pavement other than concrete.

Many municipalities use it to widen or rebuild existing streets. Experienced crews using modern machines will lay several blocks a day. They just break up the old street, and mix it with portland cement and water. This is rolled solid and topped with a thin bituminous surface.

Soil-cement means low cost. Usually, 75% of the materials are free! Maintenance stays low, too. Even the tightest tax budgets can afford soil-cement.

Keeping Up With Hollywood

by Louella Parsons

HOLLYWOOD—Suspected something was up when George Montgomery greeted Jack Warner as "Boss" at the Tony Martin party. After a little detective work I discovered that Warners will release "The Steel Hook," the movie George made in the Philippines early this year. Also George has signed a two-picture deal with Jack to direct, produce and write.

The first of these multiple jobs is "Samar," a story dealing with the Spaniards' occupation of the Philippine Islands. Dinah Shore's favorite boyfriend leaves for Manila the day after Christmas to start work. Ferde Grofe Jr., his production manager, is already there.

"The Steel Hook" was made at a nominal price, but everyone who has seen it says it's an excellent picture. George is going to make sure everybody is familiar with it when he returns from the Philippines because he's going on a personal appearance tour to tell the U.S.A. about it.

Dick Powell, whom I've known for many years, always levels with me, so when I asked him if the rumors were true that the reason he had asked for three months leave of absence from 20th Century-Fox is because he and June Allyson were having emotional problems, he said:

"I am not emotional. I won't deny that June and I have many problems. We have had many misunderstandings in the past — whether we will straighten them ou. eventually or separate. I don't know. I am living at home and June and the children spent the weekend with me at Newport Beach. There are always problems when you are married to an actress," he said. "June works hard and so do I and our hours are not always the same."

Dick says Four Star, his highly successful TV company, has just sold another program starring Gertrude Berg and Sir Cedric Hardwicke.

The very busy Joseph Levine took time off to go into the Peter Bent Brigham Hospital in Boston for surgery.

But before he entered the hospital he told me that Noelle Adams will play opposite Donald O'Connor in "The Wonders of Aladdin." Says Joe: "Noelle caused a big sensation in New York two years ago on the stage and I feel very fortunate to have signed her. She is the wife of Sydney Chaplin."

Another beauty signed by Mr. Levine is a French girl, Michele Mercier, who is playing a small part in "Goodbye Again" (formerly "Aimez-vous Brahms"). Director Henry Levin leaves for Tunis Friday to start production.

From all accounts, "Camelot" was given a generous cut since I saw it in Boston. At that time it ran almost four hours, but now it's much shorter and moves faster. The opening in New York brought out all the top theatrical names. Alan Lerner, who went into the hospital with an ucler while he was getting the play in shape, goes to Paris on a holiday with his bride, while Frederick Loewe will tie himself to California and get some Palm Springs sunshine.

Have Happy Feet For The Holidays

You can't fool your feet. They know it's December by the extra amount of hurrying and scurrying they're expected to do. And, unless you pamper them now, before the pace gets painful, they're going to complain before the month is half over.

First of all, if you know or suspect that you have any foot trouble at all, treat yourself to a session with a good foot doctor. It's wise to catch corns, calluses, bunions and ingrown toenails at their earliest stages.

Then, if your conscience is beginning to pinch you just where your shoes do, break down and treat yourself to a good fit in a new pair of shopping shoes. Indeed, this may be your foot doctor's chief prescription. Heed his specific instructions about adding heel lifts and arch supports. Too many women for too many years have been prescribing their own shoe corrections with makeshift padding purchased at notions counters.

A lot of your discomfort may be due to the extremely pointed toes in your latest batch of bootery. Let your doctor examine the shoes you now wear, to determine if there is any cramping and any consequent shifting of weight and fit.

Now, take two steps at home to keep your feet happy through the holidays. One is exercise, to strenghten your pedals and stimulate their circulation. The other is soaking, to soothe and smoothe them.

A ready-made exercise is modern dancing, done barefoot. You needn't be a ballet buff, enrolled in a weekly class. Dance at home according to the techniques told in my booklet, "Dance Through a Week to Beauty." For just ten cents and a stamped self-addressed envelope, your request to me, in care of this newspaper, will be filled in two weeks.

Apart from dancing, you can still have a ball! A medium-size rubber ball that you can roll back and forth with your bare feet, rotating slowly but firmly from heel to toes, around the arches, along the sides.

Soak foot fatigue away with epsom salts in lukewarm water. A refreshing follow-up is a dip in cool water, then a gentle massage with alcohol. After you work in some softening cream (concentrating on pressure points), prop your feet high for a twenty-minute rest.

Opening lead: Five of ♥

A very interesting study in deceptive play by declarer is provided in today's hand, played in a recent tournament. The contract of five clubs was reached at several tables and, in one of two instances, was defeated on alert defense by West.

The opening lead was the five of hearts, and the natural play on the part of most declarers was to cash the ace of spades at once. This was followed by the ace and king of diamonds. Then on a low diamond lead by declarer West realized that declarer was trying to sneak into dummy to take a discard on the king of spades. He therefore ruffed with the king of clubs and cashed the king of hearts, hoping that partner could somehow produce another trick. East produced that trick in no uncertain manner in the form of the ace of clubs.

While we make no effort to belittle West's alertness, nevertheless it must be said that declarer rendered the defense less difficult by "tipping his hand." That declarer was eager to ob-

Answers Your Problems

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Fifteen years ago I came to this country as a refugee. I love America, and have found here freedom and opportunity to live a useful and productive life. Last year I had the honor to become an American citizen. It was the happiest day of my life.

A woman who works with me has bitter feelings against foreigners. Often she remarks that it is a shame greenhorns come to this country and in no time they own their own homes and drive big cars. She says there are plenty of American-born people who are still renting and riding the buses.

I become confused and don't know how to answer her. Surely she must realize we so-called greenhorns have to work for what we have. The government does not give us homes or cars. We get only an opportunity, which others get, too. What can I say to her?—NEW AMERICAN

DEAR NEW AMERICAN: Don't waste your breath. A woman who would make such remarks is not interested in any answer you could give. She's bitter because she (or her husband) has not made the grade. These sniveling, petty failures must attack those who succeed.

Everyone in America has roots elsewhere — unless he is an American Indian. This country is great because the greenhorns brought to our land bright minds and willing hands. The inscription on the Statue of Liberty . . . "Send me your homeless, your hungry, your poor" is more than an invitation — it's a promise. Anyone who comes to a strange new land and does well deserves an extra pat on the back. Congratulations.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I'm a girl 18 and in the worst kind of trouble. It's too late to lecture me. What I need now is advice on what to do about it.

The man who is responsible is married. He has a nice wife and family and I don't want to cause any trouble. I've seen his wife and she is a lovely, refined person. If she knew about this she would die.

I can't work much longer, and I can't go to my parents' home. They live in a small town several miles from here. I think this man should pay my hospital bills and take care of my room and board for the next three months. He refuses to answer my letters and he tells his secretary not to put my calls through. What can I do? —IN DEEP

DEAR IN: You need a lawyer. Contact Legal Aid. It's free and you will get excellent counsel.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I don't know where else to go for help. I'm a boy 13 with no dad to stick up for me. He died when I was small.

My mother is a nice woman but she has some funny ideas. She likes to wave my hair and she has even put bleach in the water without telling me. I noticed my hair was getting lighter but couldn't figure out why. She said she was just rinsing it, but now I'm wise.

I hate this stuff because it makes me look like a sissy. The kids at school make cracks. Please tell me how to get her to stop it. I don't want to hurt her feelings but I'm sick of it.—R. D.

DEAR R. D.: Your mother has no idea of the harm she could do with her foolish ways. Ask your principal or a favorite teacher to speak to her AT ONCE. They'll know what to say.

Are you tempted to smoke because the crowd does? If so, send for ANN LANDERS' booklet, "Teen-age Smoking," enclosing with your request 10 cents in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Keeping Up With Hollywood

by Louella Parsons

HOLLYWOOD—Suspected something was up when George Montgomery greeted Jack Warner as "Boss" at the Tony Martin party. After a little detective work I discovered that Warners will release "The Steel Hook," the movie George made in the Philippines early this year. Also George has signed a two-picture deal with Jack to direct, produce and write.

The first of these multiple jobs is "Samar," a story dealing with the Spaniards' occupation of the Philippine Islands. Dinah Shore's favorite boyfriend leaves for Manila the day after Christmas to start work. Ferde Grofe Jr., his production manager, is already there.

"The Steel Hook" was made at a nominal price, but everyone who has seen it says it's an excellent picture. George is going to make sure everybody is familiar with it when he returns from the Philippines because he's going on a personal appearance tour to tell the U.S.A. about it.

Dick Powell, whom I've known for many years, always levels with me, so when I asked him if the rumors were true that the reason he had asked for three months leave of absence from 20th Century-Fox is because he and June Allyson were having emotional problems, he said:

"I am not emotional. I won't deny that June and I have many problems. We have had many misunderstandings in the past — whether we will straighten them ou. eventually or separate. I don't know. I am living at home and June and the children spent the weekend with me at Newport Beach. There are always problems when you are married to an actress," he said. "June works hard and so do I and our hours are not always the same."

Dick says Four Star, his highly successful TV company, has just sold another program starring Gertrude Berg and Sir Cedric Hardwicke.

The very busy Joseph Levine took time off to go into the Peter Bent Brigham Hospital in Boston for surgery.

But before he entered the hospital he told me that Noelle Adams will play opposite Donald O'Connor in "The Wonders of Aladdin." Says Joe: "Noelle caused a big sensation in New York two years ago on the stage and I feel very fortunate to have signed her. She is the wife of Sydney Chaplin."

Another beauty signed by Mr. Levine is a French girl, Michele Mercier, who is playing a small part in "Goodbye Again" (formerly "Aimez-vous Brahms"). Director Henry Levin leaves for Tunis Friday to start production.

From all accounts, "Camelot" was given a generous cut since I saw it in Boston. At that time it ran almost four hours, but now it's much shorter and moves faster. The opening in New York brought out all the top theatrical names. Alan Lerner, who went into the hospital with an ucler while he was getting the play in shape, goes to Paris on a holiday with his bride, while Frederick Loewe will tie himself to California and get some Palm Springs sunshine.

Improvements Are Planned At City Hall

John J. Long, commissioner of streets and public property, yesterday was authorized to advertise for bids for improvements to City Hall and City Hall Annex.

Included was authority to advertise for bids for washing down the rotunda and marble area in City Hall and for painting the council chamber, rotunda and offices of City Hall and the court room of the Public Safety Building. Paint will be furnished by the city.

Commissioner Long was also authorized to advertise for bids for the installation of fluorescent lights in the Council Chamber.

Bids Are Opened

In routine action, the Mayor and Council referred for tabulation two bids for a half-ton pickup truck for the Fire Department. Gurley's offered to furnish the vehicle for $2,172.54 and Gratton Ford, for $2,272.37.

The Police Department noted 1,254 arrests during November and the collection of $2,620 of fines. The Fire Department reported 41 calls, with minor damage.

Adopted was an order increasing from $1 to $5 the fee to be charged for treating each 500 gallons of effluent removed from septic tanks.

Fee Is Boosted

William R. Carscadon, city attorney, explained the superintendent of the sewage treatment reported the city was losing money on the nominal $1 charge and that virtually all of the service was furnished to non-residents. He added that the $5 fee is the normal charge made by treatment plants of this area.

Council authorized the payment of $2,975 to the Hout Construction Company for the relocation of Brinker's Run.

Parking meter receipts for the week ending November 27 totaled $721.82, a decrease of $50.63 from the previous week.

City Clerk Wallace G. Ullery reported November receipts of $1,564.95, and revenue from the city scales from October 14 to November 18 totaled $1,273.

Red Cross Aid Course Planned

W. E. Channell, chairman of the first aid committee, Allegany County Chapter, American Red Cross, has announced that a Junior Red Cross first aid course will be given to the LaVale Boy Scout Troop at LaVale Methodist Church.

Classes will start Thursday and will be held from 7 until 9 p. m. Lewis C. Millholland Jr., will be the instructor.

The local chapter of the Red Cross also announced that standard first aid course certificates were issued to students who completed the course at Frostburg State Teachers College. Harold J. Cordts was the instructor.

Fort Hill Play Friday

Members of the Fort Hill Players will call at the home of friends, neighbors and patrons tonight to remind them of the production of "Angel Street" which will be presented Friday at 8:15 p. m. in the school auditorium.

Darlene Zimmerman will lead the canvass for the Players, and John Hamilton will lead a group of youths from the Fort Hill Hi-Y Club.

County Board

out the problem as quickly as possible.

Commissioner John T. Mason said he wanted a report by the planning commission before he made up his mind to a decision on the school program.

President of the board John J. Rowan said he felt that at the present time, "The school program is out of order. I don't think we can stand it."

Commissioner William A. Wilson spoke favorably of a school program, but expressed concern over payment of the cost and also said he will withhold a decision for the present.

Police Check Theft Reports

City police are checking the reported theft of a wallet from a local store employe's purse.

Mrs. Julia Becker, 213 Cumberland Street, said her purse was placed at the rear of the store and that she discovered her wallet, containing $23, keys and several cards, was missing.

She said she was busy and did not notice who might have taken the wallet.

Meanwhile, police continue to probe the theft of $67 worth of metal crank shafts from the Cumberland Metal Company, 1760 Ford Avenue. Some of the metal reportedly has been sold in the area, police said.

Also reported stolen was a $25 battery, apparently taken from Miller's Auto Company, 1415 River Avenue. Also missing from the company is one ton of scrap iron.

Lodge To Nominate

LONACONING — Rising Sun Lodge No. 86, Knights of Pythias, will nominate officers today during a meeting at 7:30 p.m. in the Pythian Hall. Refreshments will be served.

Kiwanis Club To Hear Talk On Constitution

The Constitution will be discussed tomorrow at a weekly meeting of the Cumberland Kiwanis Club at 12:15 p. m. at Central YMCA.

Guest speaker will be Dr. Elbert M. Byrd Jr., an assistant professor in the government and politics department at the University of Maryland.

Mathias' Post To Be Filled

FREDERICK (AP) — Two former legislators and a former Frederick mayor were among Republicans mentioned Tuesday as possible successors to Charles McC. Mathias Jr. in the Maryland House of Delegates.

Mathias is giving up the Frederick County seat to become the congressman representing the Sixth District. He defeated Democratic Rep. John R. Foley in the Nov. 8 election.

The GOP State Central Committee for Frederick County will nominate the successor for the legislative vacancy, with the actual appointment to be made before Jan. 4 by Gov. Tawes.

Contenders for the seat in the legislature, party observers report, include former Dels. Joseph Payne and S. Fenton Harris and former Mayor John A. Derr. Payne and Harris were defeated for re-election in 1958 and Derr lost the election for state comptroller the same year.

Also mentioned was Stanley Gaver, another unsuccessful candidate for the House in 1958.

Many Visit Toy Center

Hundreds of friends of the Associated Charities have visited the CUF agency's toy center at 65 North Centre Street this week.

Miss Jeanette Bonig, executive secretary, said open house will be held at the toy center all this week.

Staffers have had to turn down dozens of offers to purchase some of the huge collection of toys which have been collected and repaired since last Christmas.

Miss Bonig said the collection of toys is even larger than last year, when some 10,000 were distributed for needy children of the area.

The agency has sent letters to families it aids, inviting parents to come to the toy center next week to select toys for their children.

Local Man Guilty Of State Violation

William R. Whitacre, 26 Front Street, was found guilty yesterday in Trial Magistrate Court of making a false statement to obtain unemployment benefits.

Magistrate F. Allan Weatherholt gave Whitacre a 30-day suspended sentenced and ordered him to make restitution of $28 to the state.

Donald W. Mason, assistant state's attorney, represented the state at the hearing.

Improvements Are Planned At City Hall

John J. Long, commissioner of streets and public property, yesterday was authorized to advertise for bids for improvements to City Hall and City Hall Annex.

Included was authority to advertise for bids for washing down the rotunda and marble area in City Hall and for painting the council chamber, rotunda and offices of City Hall and the court room of the Public Safety Building. Paint will be furnished by the city.

Commissioner Long was also authorized to advertise for bids for the installation of fluorescent lights in the Council Chamber.

Bids Are Opened

In routine action, the Mayor and Council referred for tabulation two bids for a half-ton pickup truck for the Fire Department. Gurley's offered to furnish the vehicle for $2,172.54 and Gratton Ford, for $2,272.37.

The Police Department noted 1,254 arrests during November and the collection of $2,620 of fines. The Fire Department reported 41 calls, with minor damage.

Adopted was an order increasing from $1 to $5 the fee to be charged for treating each 500 gallons of effluent removed from septic tanks.

Fee Is Boosted

William R. Carscaden, city attorney, explained the superintendent of the sewage treatment reported the city was losing money on the nominal $1 charge and that virtually all of the service was furnished to non-residents. He added that the $5 fee is the normal charge made by treatment plants of this area.

Council authorized the payment of $2,975 to the Hout Construction Company for the relocation of Brinker's Run.

Parking meter receipts for the week ending November 27 totaled $721.82, a decrease of $50.63 from the previous week.

City Clerk Wallace G. Ullery reported November receipts of $1,564.95, and revenue from the city scales from October 14 to November 18 totaled $1,273.

Red Cross Aid Course Planned

W. E. Channell, chairman of the first aid committee, Allegany County Chapter, American Red Cross, has announced that a Junior Red Cross first aid course will be given to the LaVale Boy Scout Troop at LaVale Methodist Church.

Classes will start Thursday and will be held from 7 until 9 p. m. Lewis C. Millholland Jr., will be the instructor.

The local chapter of the Red Cross also announced that standard first aid course certificates were issued to students who completed the course at Frostburg State Teachers College. Harold J. Cordts was the instructor.

Receiving certificates were Maria Katherine Amerin, Patricia Veronica F. Ballentine, William Neil Bartlett, Marsha Karen Branch, Florence V. Faith, Linda Raye Felter, Loretta Jean Frush, James Henry Gentry, John Bernard Gilmore, A. Jane Guard, Marianne Hoelzer, Thomas Raymond House, Barbara Jean Hull, Samuel Frank Indolfi, Raymond Paul Kamauf, James William Kight, Ronald Milton Kyhos, Joseph Savin Loveless Jr., Ralph E. out the problem as quickly as possible.

Commissioner John T. Mason said he wanted a report by the planning commission before he made up his mind to a decision on the school program.

President of the board John J. Rowan said he felt that at the present time, "The school program is out of order. I don't think we can stand it."

Commissioner William A. Wilson spoke favorably of a school program, but expressed concern over payment of the cost and also said he will withhold a decision for the present.

Police Check Theft Reports

City police are checking the reported theft of a wallet from a local store employe's purse.

Mrs. Julia Becker, 213 Cumberland Street, said her purse was placed at the rear of the store and that she discovered her wallet, containing $23, keys and several cards, was missing.

She said she was busy and did not notice who might have taken the wallet.

Meanwhile, police continue to probe the theft of $67 worth of metal crank shafts from the Cumberland Metal Company, 1760 Ford Avenue. Some of the metal reportedly has been sold in the area, police said.

Also reported stolen was a $25 battery, apparently taken from Miller's Auto Company, 1415 River Avenue. Also missing from the company is one ton of scrap iron.

Mathias' Post To Be Filled

FREDERICK (AP) — Two former legislators and a former Frederick mayor were among Republicans mentioned Tuesday as possible successors to Charles McC. Mathias Jr. in the Maryland House of Delegates.

Mathias is giving up the Frederick County seat to become the congressman representing the Sixth District. He defeated Democratic Rep. John R. Foley in the Nov. 8 election.

The GOP State Central Committee for Frederick County will nominate the successor for the legislative vacancy, with the actual appointment to be made before Jan. 4 by Gov. Tawes.

Contenders for the seat in the legislature, party observers report, include former Dels. Joseph Payne and S. Fenton Harris and former Mayor John A. Derr. Payne and Harris were defeated for re-election in 1958 and Derr lost the election for state comptroller the same year.

Also mentioned was Stanley Gaver, another unsuccessful candidate for the House in 1958.

Many Visit Toy Center

Hundreds of friends of the Associated Charities have visited the CUF agency's toy center at 65 North Centre Street this week.

Miss Jeanette Bonig, executive secretary, said open house will be held at the toy center all this week.

Staffers have had to turn down dozens of offers to purchase some of the huge collection of toys which have been collected and repaired since last Christmas.

Miss Bonig said the collection of toys is even larger than last year, when some 10,000 were distributed for needy children of the area.

The agency has sent letters to families it aids, inviting parents to come to the toy center next week to select toys for their children.

Local Man Guilty Of State Violation

William R. Whitacre, 26 Front Street, was found guilty yesterday in Trial Magistrate Court of making a false statement to obtain unemployment benefits.

Magistrate F. Allan Weatherholt gave Whitacre a 30-day suspended sentenced and ordered him to make restitution of $28 to the state.

Donald W. Mason, assistant state's attorney, represented the state at the hearing.

Should Government Settle Strikes?

Expansion of White House power in dealing with big, stubborn strikes such as that which closed the nation's major steel mills for 116 days last year is recommended by a special study committee of the National Council of Churches.

Its first suggestion is that committees appointed by the President to look into such strikes should have the right to make proposals for settlement instead of being limited, as now, to fact finding.

A similar proposal came up during the original Senate debate on the Taft-Hartley measure. Sen. Robert A. Taft explained why no such teeth were included in his bill. It would place the government in the position of setting wages, leading inevitably to subsequent government setting of prices. In so doing, he said, it would fall upon the government to decide the fate of whole industries. This role is alien to our concept of business and government, as Congress wisely indicated by heeding Senator Taft's advice.

The church group would limit the appointment of presidential investigating panels to disputes where the public interest is endangered. But this optimistically presupposes that a Presidential panel would be free of political tinge, and that its "recommendations" for settlement of a dispute wouldn't drastically upset the balance of free bargaining.

The church committee's proposal could contain the seed of the undesirable government controls of wages and prices that Senator Taft warned about.

These Days

By George E. Sokolsky

Sex Madness

Received a circular asking me whether I wanted the truth about Cuba. If so, I am instructed on the first page of a four-page leaflet to subscribe to a magazine called "The Independent." If I read this publication, I shall know all about Cuba from a person who goes by the name of Lyle Stuart.

I turn to page two of the pamphlet and Cuba is apparently lost. I am now in the realm of love—not the love the poets wrote of, nor the love of mother for child. This is a special kind of love, such as Phallic Worship, or Sex Variant Women in Literature, or, I am offered handsome full-page photographs of the nude female. There is more of this. For instance, there is an advertisement of the secret life of Walter Winchell.

I have known Walter, lo! these many years and if he has a secret, it must be most unusual, because Walter Winchell lives way out in the open, with a ringside seat in the Cub Room of the Stork Club. If a fellow can make a buck discovering some secrets about him, he must be a marvel. But why, in this circular, put Walter Winchell's secrets in the same class as a book about Messalina, a very naughty gal, indeed?

Enough of this stuff! Why are such circulars sent to decent folk who must see them before they can throw them away, because what is on the outside is an old-fashioned come-on? This is a discussion on Cuba.

And it is the Cuban come-on that leads to the inside pages which deal with various books that, to use a phrase related to one of them, "tells you the things that don't usually appear in books." Now why do these things not usually appear in books which these days are turned out by the ton without too much taste or originality?

It would seem to me that we are becoming too broad-minded about some things. There are writers, and have been through the ages, who enjoy writing about erotic subjects, some of which ultimately are accepted in literature, as Boccaccio, De Maupassant and others have been. Other writers who enjoy erotica and pornography are not accepted. None of this has anything to do with freedom of the press.

It has to do with taste. And the good taste of one period may not be the good taste of another. On the other hand, sheer vulgarity, inane bestiality are never in good taste. When a book is advertised as "Has been banned in many places," the attraction is not that this is a work of literary merit but rather that it is the sort of thing the young boy read in bed, under a blanket, with a flashlight.

The free publication of everything and anything has been defended as a sign of maturity. The assumption is that a people are so mature that they can permit little boys to write dirty words on sidewalks with joy in their hearts that the kids know the dirty words so early in life. The idea is that this is an expansion of freedom; also that it is cute.

The truth is that precisely this type of literature has become associated with the increase of juvenile criminals in the United States and the increase of children born out of wedlock. The battlers for abstract freedoms do not assume any responsibility for the broken lives which result from lack of restraint, lack of self-control, sexual precocity in boys and girls. It is easy for them to say, "anything goes!" but, in truth, anything does not go in this life and the young woman who bears a child out of wedlock which she has to rid herself of one way or another, goes through her years with a miserable memory and a bruised conscience. Neither the authors nor publishers of these books are willing to assume any responsibility for that.

But why cover it all up with a tale about Cuba, which has enough troubles without being used as a cover story for an advertisement for books of this type? Or are we to infer that it is all part of the same mental and emotional sickness—the defense of Cuba and the publishing of books that have been banned in many places?

The Need For Somebody To Do Something

By Joseph Alsop

PARIS

If President-elect Kennedy does not intend to devalue the dollar, as one may be certain, he needs to name his Secretary of the Treasury without much further delay.

He also needs to name the right kind of Secretary of the Treasury. The appointment of the most frequently mentioned candidate, Under Secretary of State Douglas Dillon, "would half solve the problem there and then," according to one of the highest French authorities. In any case, it is essential to find a man like Dillon, whose viewpoint and abilities will command the confidence of the international banking community.

There are two reasons for this. First of all, the European central banks, and especially the German, French and Italian central banks, now hold large parts of their reserves in dollars. They are of course in duty bound to exchange these dollar reserves for gold if they think devaluation is possible. If they do this, in turn, devaluation will become inevitable, under the present antiquated American currency laws.

Normally, there would be no danger of this kind of action by the European central banks. But a man is now needed to restore confidence, alas, because the man we have has done so much to undermine confidence. That is the second reason for quick action.

The impression produced by Secretary of the Treasury Robert Anderson in Bonn was bad enough: the impression he produced in Paris was even worse. As Anderson made his presentations here before very large groups, word of his apparent panic has spread far and wide.

Add to this such symptoms as the recent article in "Le Figaro," by the brilliant yet sober Raymond Aron, discussing dollar devaluation as a definite possibility. The end result could be a real crisis of confidence.

Although such a crisis is still unlikely, the risk is serious enough to demand prompt preventive action. The simplest action is for Kennedy to confer effective responsibility "on someone who does not seem to have lost all confidence, both in his currency and in himself." In that event, according to the same high French authority already quoted, "The dollar problem will soon cease to be dramatic."

First of all, there are all sorts of technical measures that can be taken, with important short term effects. These range all the way from firmer handling of the London gold market, to closer cooperative arrangements between the central banks concerned. And there are also longer term technical measures which can be very useful indeed, like the reform of the American currency statutes recently advocated by the senior partner of the Morgan Bank, Henry Alexander.

Then too, it is obviously possible to make rapid, confidence-inducing cuts in the American government's swollen expenditures overseas, without doing any political or strategic damage at all. A vast, enormously costly military aid group in Bonn is not really needed to teach the Germans how to fight. Nor is it really needed to fly the children of American dependents a couple of hundred miles a day in a special airplane to teach them their ABCs in extra comfort. Other examples might be cited.

The more permanent and far reaching remedial measures that may be required are too complex for discussion here. But it should certainly be noted that the real cause of the dollar crisis is a change in American business habits. American exports are currently "adequate" to pay for all American imports plus all government expenditures abroad, even on the present scale. But American businessmen have now begun to invest abroad on a very big scale; and this capital outflow, plus the outflow of hot money and money seeking higher interest rates, are the real causes of the present trouble.

For President-elect Kennedy, this trouble can be very grave indeed— —if it is unwisely neglected. One of his most urgent political tasks is to revive the spirit and the hopes of the Western Allies, now at an all-time low. And besides all its other embarrassments, a neglected dollar crisis will sadly limit Kennedy's power to lead the West, for the crudely practical reason that America's wealth is the fount of America's power.

As Raymond Aron suggested in the article already cited, the devaluation of the dollar is by no means unavoidable, "but the American authorities are working hard to render it unavoidable." Aron went on:

"Will the President-elect resign himself in advance to this result for which his predecessor will really be responsible? I cannot believe it. But in that case, it is an urgent task to dissipate all doubts." The first step that must be taken for this purpose had already been indicated.

Inside Washington

By Henry Cathcart

REAPPORTIONMENT — Each decade the number of Congressional representatives from the states must be revised to assure proportional representation for all the people.

In order to accomplish this, the U. S. Census Bureau, after taking the national census, announces the number of Representatives each state will be allotted for the coming decade. This has now been done for the 1960's.

The reapportionment shows that 25 of the 50 states have either gained or lost seats in the House. It is now up to the state governments concerned to re-shape their Congressional districts to provide for the increase or decrease assigned to them.

And here's where that great old game of "Gerrymandering" comes in. For the political party in control of a state's legislative machinery tries to carve out Congressional districts that will give their candidates the best opportunity to win the most seats.

A check shows that the Democrats have a marked edge in state legislative control, and that in all probability they will be able to perpetuate their Congressional majorities because of this.

ANOTHER POLL — We have comforting news for those who believe in the rightness of the views of people. The Junior League of Washington, on the basis of a recent poll, was overwhelmingly of the opinion that there will not be another war.

Three out of four said there wouldn't be, when asked. In answer to another question, about half of the young and presumably pretty voters said they would rather give up Quemoy and Matsu than go to war over the islands off the Red China coast. About a third would fight for the islands or any other free territory threatened with Communist encroachment.

We report this, not in belief or disbelief, but simply because these are mothers of tomorrow's leaders—and the hand that rocks the cradle may still rule the world, or at least the world's thinking.

Kennedy Will Find No Embarrassing Records Lying Around White House

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON—When the Kennedy administration takes over the files of the Eisenhower administration very few incriminating documents will be found. The files will be threadbare of embarrassment.

Eisenhower, himself, took care of this more than a year ago when on July 24, 1959 he issued a directive against verbatim transcripts of secret government meetings.

"In order carefully to preserve candidness and freedom of discussion," said a Presidential directive signed by Robert Gray, Secretary of the Cabinet, "The President has requested that there be no verbatim transcripts made of meetings of intra-government or public advisory committees. Summary minutes of actions taken, as distinguished from verbatim transcripts, continue to be appropriate.

"Please confirm to me your receipt of this memorandum and indicate the implementing steps which your agency is taking."

Kennedy's Successor

President-elect Kennedy faces the unpleasant task shortly of sitting down with outgoing Gov. Foster Furcolo of Massachusetts and choosing a successor to Kennedy's seat in the Senate.

The meeting will not be pleasant because Governor Furcolo, son of an Italian immigrant, and Senator Kennedy, grandson of an Irish immigrant, don't particularly like each other. The dislike stems back to 1954 when Furcolo ran for the Senate against GOP Sen. Leverett Saltonstall. Kennedy, a Democrat, was expected to support Furcolo, also a Democrat. But he didn't.

Kennedy neatly sidestepped any endorsement for Furcolo and the Kennedy family deftly cut his throat. Unofficially, but effectively, they supported the Republican blueblood running against the son of an Italian immigrant. This caused great resentment from Italo-Americans in Massachusetts, also from some Irish who claimed the Kennedys had become lace curtain Irish. And Old Joe Kennedy had to contribute to an awful lot of Italian charities and hospitals in Massachusetts to make up for it.

This will still be in Furcolo's mind when he sits down as Governor of Massachusetts with the power to name Kennedy's successor to the Senate. Though he does not particularly love the President-elect, Furcolo will probably appoint the man Jack wants, and that man is Jack's old roommate at Harvard, Congressman Torbert H. MacDonald.

MacDonald was the first Irish Catholic football captain at Harvard, is now on the House Commerce Committee and has been stumping for the last four years to make Kennedy President. He is a fine Congressman, would make a good Senator.

Note—Kennedy is not likely to get together with Governor Furcolo before the Electoral College meets December 19. He doesn't want to be out of a Senate job before he's firm in his Presidential job.

Behind The Scenes

Bobby Kennedy has confided to friends that he'd like to be Attorney General just long enough to jail Teamster Boss Jimmy Hoffa . . . Jim Hagerty has an offer of more than one million dollars to write his memoirs. Since he's one of the few men who've been on the inside with Ike for the entire eight years, his book could be a sensation . . . Lipton's tea, though a British company, has already put in a bid to sponsor the Democratic and Republican conventions for President in 1964 . . . Secret Service agents are complaining — good naturedly — about guarding the President-elect. Kennedy almost exhausted them in Florida with the most vigorous vacation of any President in years. He swam, fished, played football and tennis. Every time he plunged into the ocean, the Secret Service had to go swimming with him. (Maybe they were protecting him from sharks—or females).

Merry-Go-Round

Washington shops have been offering Mrs. John Walsh, wife of Mrs. Kennedy's doctor, all sorts of gowns for the Inaugural Ball. Mrs. Walsh happens to be a Republican. She is going to the ball, but she has turned down the free gowns . . . Dr. Walsh is the son of the physician to that pillar of Republicanism—President McKinley . . . Fidel Castro is so burned up over the latest Parisian song hit, "Don't Go To Havana," that he's actually protested to the French government . . . President Eisenhower has received invitations from 23 countries to visit them after he leaves the White House. He'll take a world cruise by slow boat which may include most of these countries. He figures the trip will last at least six months. It should atone for the frosty turn-down when he wanted to go to Japan last spring . . . The USS George Washington, first Polaris combat submarine, shoved off for two months underseas voyage recently without a chaplain. It carried, instead, recordings of sermons on video tape of a chaplain offering spiritual comfort. The recordings will be played on Sundays several hundred feet underwater.

Jim Bishop: Reporter

By Jim Bishop

The last of the one-man airlines is National and Ted Baker. He runs it like a kid with his own electric trains. Baker is a deep-chested man with a 90-pound jaw. He looks and talks like a fighter, but, inside he's as shy as an old maid in the wrong line at Vic Tanney's. At parties, Baker is the big man leaning against the wall. At stockholders' meetings, he's the one who threatens to slug the insolent heckler.

At one time in American history, there were a lot of one-man airlines: Rickenbacker of Eastern; Juan Trippe of Pan-American; Howard Hughes of TWA; C. R. Smith of American. Those days are gone. The lines are so big that they are in many businesses, from food to oil to machined parts, taxes, unions, weather, banks, advertising and politics.

George Theodore Baker, 60, sits in an air-conditioned office off the edge of the runways at Miami International Airport. He hangs his jacket on an old upwright propellor standing on a hubcap. "I'm a success," he says. "I started National Airlines with $2,000, now I owe $40,000,000."

He is a man's man. Baker looks everyone squarely in the eye and whatever he has to say comes out bluntly. He is no diplomat. Most of his time is spent fighting for more customers for National Air Lines; the rest of it is spent running around 27 acres of hangar, repair shops, schedule boards, listening to operators make reservations, watching pilots train in million-dollar simulators of Electras, DC-8's and other planes.

There are two people who can melt Baker down with a glance. One is his attractive blonde wife, who used to be Irma Wilsen, movie starlet. The other is his daughter Barbara, 13, who has her own jumping horse. Ted Baker can be breathing like a bull on the wrong side of a fence and all they have to do is look at him. He stops pawing the ground.

Once he was a Chicago kid. His father was circulation manager of the old Daily News. In 1911, Ted went to an air show in Grant Park. That did it. He watched the big box kites take off, fly around the lakeside, and come back in. He spent his nickel carfare for a candy bar, and walked home. He had to be a flier.

He served in the tank corps in World War I and, when Ted got back to Chicago, he sold candy. He also sold adding machines and saved money. He bought and sold used cars too. Later, he had an opportunity to buy an old airplane with a poor name—Eagle Rock—and he bought it, flew it, patched it up and sold it.

Baker was a big kid — 210 pounds — and happy. He bought a Waco, a Standard, and a fleet of OX-5's. He fixed them up, repainted them, and sold them. In 1930, he opened the National Air Lines Taxi System. He hired out to anybody who wanted to go anywhere.

One time the singer Harry Richman said he wanted to fly to Miami. Baker flew him in a Travelair at night and, as he passed cities, he had to come down low to read the street signs. The oil pressure died over the mountains of Kentucky and Richman and Baker found themselves on a dark road, walking.

The U.S. Government decided to fly the mail from St. Petersburg, Fla., to Daytona — about 150 miles — and Baker put in a bid. He got the job, "provided that his planes can maintain 110 miles per hour in flight." They did. Ted Baker liked the work, and put in more bids. He flew mail from Jacksonville to New Orleans, from St. Petersburg to Miami.

In the mid-thirties, he received permission to fly passengers from Jacksonville to New York. Later, he added Miami, Havana and Boston to the list. National grew fast. The stock went on the market. Baker held 12½% of it for his wife and child. National borrowed millions to buy bigger, better planes and it began to compete with the big systems.

Baker, who spawned and nursed National, became an employee. As president he gets $60,000, about one-ninth of what Mr. Louis B. Mayer used to pay himself for working at Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer.

Pan-American got the first pure jets last year, but could use them only outside the U. S. Baker leased three for the New York-Miami run so that National could boast having the first pure jets inside the country. Today, National has 47 active aircraft, ranging from DC-6B's on up through Super H Constellations, Convairs, Lockheed Electras and DC-8's.

National has assets of a hundred million dollars, which is a long way from the day Baker blew his nickel carfare on a candy bar. When I let him, I said:

"Meet you tonight. We'll play a little gin."

"Tenth of a cent a point," he said.

"You must be the last of the big plungers," I said.

"Make it 8 o'clock," said the tough guy. "I have to help Barbara with her homework." . . .

Allergy To Molds, Mildew Can Be Stubborn

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

Not long ago a young man with asthma told me he was cured of wheezing since moving to the twentieth floor of a new apartment building a few months ago. "It's the fresh air," he said, and he was right — at least, partially so.

I found he was a year 'round asthmatic who had been bothered for a long time. "I get shots when it's bad but most of the time the pills and capsules my physician prescribes make my breathing easier."

"What are you sensitive to?" I asked. He shrugged his shoulders saying he never had time to take the usual allergy tests. "Where did you live before you moved to the new apartment?" I inquired. "In an old musty home on the near north side," he replied.

This gave the clew to the cause of his asthma because many old houses and barns are moldy and riddled with mildew, especially in the damp corners and basements. The spores produced by these fungi float in the air and raise Cain in the allergic individual.

Simple skin tests showed I had hit the nail on the head. Had these been done when asthma developed initially, this man could have saved himself years of discomfort and a barrel of money.

The majority who are allergic to fungi are bothered during the summer months when wind borne spores originating in the country blow all over the United States. These microscopic particles compete with grass and ragweed pollen as the main source of wheezing, coughing, sneezing, and nasal congestion during the summer and fall.

The exceptions are those who are exposed to molds constantly in their homes or their occupations. They have year round symptoms as did the young man mentioned previously.

Mold allergy is best treated by avoiding the culprit and being desensitized with proper mold extracts. My young friend may be comfortable this winter and fall but he can expect trouble next summer unless he is desensitized before then

Nurses at New York's Mt. Sinai Hospital are more competent — also more pulchritudinous — than most. One newcomer to the staff, in fact, was a dead ringer for Elizabeth Taylor. An appreciative supervisor took her for her first tour of the establishment and paused at the entrance to the male convalescent ward. "This ward is the most dangerous," she warned. "These patients are almost well."

A Hollywood bride paused on the threshold of her new home, and a slight frown disturbed the perfect symmetry of her countenance. "Edgar," she said thoughtfully, "this layout looks very familiar to me. Are you sure we've never been married before?"

Should Government Settle Strikes?

Expansion of White House power in dealing with big, stubborn strikes such as that which closed the nation's major steel mills for 116 days last year is recommended by a special study committee of the National Council of Churches.

Its first suggestion is that committees appointed by the President to look into such strikes should have the right to make proposals for settlement instead of being limited, as now, to fact finding.

A similar proposal came up during the original Senate debate on the Taft-Hartley measure. Sen. Robert A. Taft explained why no such teeth were included in his bill. It would place the government in the position of setting wages, leading inevitably to subsequent government setting of prices. In so doing, he said, it would fall upon the government to decide the fate of whole industries. This role is alien to our concept of business and government, as Congress wisely indicated by heeding Senator Taft's advice.

The church group would limit the appointment of presidential investigating panels to disputes where the public interest is endangered. But this optimistically presupposes that a Presidential panel would be free of political tinge, and that its "recommendations" for settlement of a dispute wouldn't drastically upset the balance of free bargaining.

The church committee's proposal could contain the seed of the undesirable government controls of wages and prices that Senator Taft warned about.

These Days

Sex Madness

Received a circular asking me whether I wanted the truth about Cuba. If so, I am instructed on the first page of a four-page leaflet to subscribe to a magazine called "The Independent." If I read this publication, I shall know all about Cuba from a person who goes by the name of Lyle Stuart.

I turn to page two of the pamphlet and Cuba is apparently lost. I am now in the realm of love—not the love the poets wrote of, nor the love of mother for child. This is a special kind of love, such as Phallic Worship, or Sex Variant Women in Literature, or, I am offered handsome full-page photographs of the nude female. There is more of this. For instance, there is an advertisement of the secret life of Walter Winchell.

I have known Walter, lo! these many years and if he has a secret, it must be most unusual, because Walter Winchell lives way out in the open, with a ringside seat in the Cub Room of the Stork Club. If a fellow can make a buck discovering some secrets about him, he must be a marvel. But why, in this circular, put Walter Winchell's secrets in the same class as a book about Messalina, a very naughty gal, indeed?

Enough of this stuff! Why are such circulars sent to decent folk who must see them before they can throw them away, because what is on the outside is an old-fashioned come-on? This is a discussion on Cuba.

And it is the Cuban come-on that leads to the inside pages which deal with various books that, to use a phrase related to one of them, "tells you the things that don't usually appear in books." Now why do these things not usually appear in books which these days are turned out by the ton without too much taste or originality?

It would seem to me that we are becoming too broad-minded about some things. There are writers, and have been through the ages, who enjoy writing about erotic subjects, some of which ultimately are accepted in literature, as Boccaccio, De Maupassant and others have been. Other writers who enjoy erotica and pornography are not accepted. None of this has anything to do with freedom of the press.

It has to do with taste. And the good taste of one period may not be the good taste of another. On the other hand, sheer vulgarity, inane bestiality are never in good taste. When a book is advertised as "Has been banned in many places," the attraction is not that this is a work of literary merit but rather that it is the sort of thing the young boy read in bed, under a blanket, with a flashlight.

The free publication of everything and anything has been defended as a sign of maturity. The assumption is that a people are so mature that they can permit little boys to write dirty words on sidewalks with joy in their hearts that the kids know the dirty words so early in life. The idea is that this is an expansion of freedom; also that it is cute.

The truth is that precisely this type of literature has become associated with the increase of juvenile criminals in the United States and the increase of children born out of wedlock. The battlers for abstract freedoms do not assume any responsibility for the broken lives which result from lack of restraint, lack of self-control, sexual precocity in boys and girls. It is easy for them to say, "anything goes!" but, in truth, anything does not go in this life and the young woman who bears a child out of wedlock which she has to rid herself of one way or another, goes through her years with a miserable memory and a bruised conscience. Neither the authors nor publishers of these books are willing to assume any responsibility for that.

But why cover it all up with a tale about Cuba, which has enough troubles without being used as a cover story for an advertisement for books of this type? Or are we to infer that it is all part of the same mental and emotional sickness—the defense of Cuba and the publishing of books that have been banned in many places?

The Need For Somebody To Do Something

By Joseph Alsop

PARIS

If President-elect Kennedy does not intend to devalue the dollar, as one may be certain, he needs to name his Secretary of the Treasury without much further delay.

He also needs to name the right kind of Secretary of the Treasury. The appointment of the most frequently mentioned candidate, Under Secretary of State Douglas Dillon, "would half solve the problem there and then," according to one of the highest French authorities. In any case, it is essential to find a man like Dillon, whose viewpoint and abilities will command the confidence of the international banking community.

There are two reasons for this. First of all, the European central banks, and especially the German, French and Italian central banks, now hold large parts of their reserves in dollars. They are of course in duty bound to exchange these dollar reserves for gold if they think devaluation is possible. If they do this, in turn, devaluation will become inevitable, under the present antiquated American currency laws.

Normally, there would be no danger of this kind of action by the European central banks. But a man is now needed to restore confidence, alas, because the man we have has done so much to undermine confidence. That is the second reason for quick action.

The impression produced by Secretary of the Treasury Robert Anderson in Bonn was bad enough; the impression he produced in Paris was even worse. As Anderson made his presentations here before very large groups, word of his apparent panic has spread far and wide.

Add to this such symptoms as the recent article in "Le Figaro," by the brilliant yet sober Raymond Aron, discussing dollar devaluation as a definite possibility. The end result could be a real crisis of confidence.

Although such a crisis is still unlikely, the risk is serious enough to demand prompt preventive action. The simplest action is for Kennedy to confer effective responsibility "on someone who does not seem to have lost all confidence, both in his currency and in himself." In that event, according to the same high French authority already quoted, "The dollar problem will soon cease to be dramatic."

First of all, there are all sorts of technical measures that can be taken, with important short term effects. These range all the way from firmer handling of the London gold market, to closer cooperative arrangements between the central banks concerned. And there are also longer term technical measures which can be very useful indeed, like the reform of the American currency statutes recently advocated by the senior partner of the Morgan Bank, Henry Alexander.

Then too, it is obviously possible to make rapid, confidence-inducing cuts in the American government's swollen expenditures overseas, without doing any political or strategic damage at all. A vast, enormously costly military aid group in Bonn is not really needed to teach the Germans how to fight. Nor is it really needed to fly the children of American dependents a couple of hundred miles a day in a special airplane to teach them their ABCs in extra comfort. Other examples might be cited.

The more permanent and far reaching remedial measures that may be required are too complex for discussion here. But it should certainly be noted that the real cause of the dollar crisis is a change in American business habits. American exports are currently "adequate" to pay for all American imports plus all government expenditures abroad, even on the present scale. But American businessmen have now begun to invest abroad on a very big scale; and this capital outflow, plus the outflow of hot money and money seeking higher interest rates, are the real causes of the present trouble.

For President-elect Kennedy, this trouble can be very grave indeed— —if it is unwisely neglected. One of his most urgent political tasks is to revive the spirit and the hopes of the Western Allies, now at an all-time low. And besides all its other embarrassments, a neglected dollar crisis will sadly limit Kennedy's power to lead the West, for the crudely practical reason that America's wealth is the fount of America's power.

As Raymond Aron suggested in the article already cited, the devaluation of the dollar is by no means unavoidable, "but the American authorities are working hard to render it unavoidable." Aron went on:

"Will the President-elect resign himself in advance to this result for which his predecessor will really be responsible? I cannot believe it. But in that case, it is an urgent task to dissipate all doubts." The first step that must be taken for this purpose had already been indicated.

Inside Washington

By Henry Cathcart

REAPPORTIONMENT — Each decade the number of Congressional representatives from the states must be revised to assure proportional representation for all the people.

In order to accomplish this, the U. S. Census Bureau, after taking the national census, announces the number of Representatives each state will be allotted for the coming decade. This has now been done for the 1960's.

The reapportionment shows that 25 of the 50 states have either gained or lost seats in the House. It is now up to the state governments concerned to re-shape their Congressional districts to provide for the increase or decrease assigned to them.

And here's where that great old game of "Gerrymandering" comes in. For the political party in control of a state's legislative machinery tries to carve out Congressional districts that will give their candidates the best opportunity to win the most seats.

A check shows that the Democrats have a marked edge in state legislative control, and that in all probability they will be able to perpetuate their Congressional majorities because of this.

ANOTHER POLL — We have comforting news for those who believe in the rightness of the views of people. The Junior League of Washington, on the basis of a recent poll, was overwhelmingly of the opinion that there will not be another war.

Three out of four said there wouldn't be, when asked. In answer to another question, about half of the young and presumably pretty voters said they would rather give up Quemoy and Matsu than go to war over the islands off the Red China coast. About a third would fight for the islands or any other free territory threatened with Communist encroachment.

We report this, not in belief or disbelief, but simply because these are mothers of tomorrow's leaders—and the hand that rocks the cradle may still rule the world, or at least the world's thinking.

Kennedy Will Find No Embarrassing Records Lying Around White House

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON—When the Kennedy administration takes over the files of the Eisenhower administration very few incriminating documents will be found. The files will be threadbare of embarrassment.

Eisenhower, himself, took care of this more than a year ago when on July 24, 1959 he issued a directive against verbatim transcripts of secret government meetings.

"In order carefully to preserve candidness and freedom of discussion," said a Presidential directive signed by Robert Gray, Secretary of the Cabinet, "The President has requested that there be no verbatim transcripts made of meetings of intra-government or public advisory committees. Summary minutes of actions taken, as distinguished from verbatim transcripts, continue to be appropriate.

"Please confirm to me your receipt of this memorandum and indicate the implementing steps which your agency is taking."

Kennedy's Successor

President-elect Kennedy faces the unpleasant task shortly of sitting down with outgoing Gov. Foster Furcolo of Massachusetts and choosing a successor to Kennedy's seat in the Senate.

The meeting will not be pleasant because Governor Furcolo, son of an Italian immigrant, and Senator Kennedy, grandson of an Irish immigrant, don't particularly like each other. The dislike stems back to 1954 when Furcolo ran for the Senate against GOP Sen. Leverett Saltonstall. Kennedy, a Democrat, was expected to support Furcolo, also a Democrat. But he didn't.

Kennedy neatly sidestepped any endorsement for Furcolo and the Kennedy family deftly cut his throat. Unofficially, but effectively, they supported the Republican blueblood running against the son of an Italian immigrant. This caused great resentment from Italo-Americans in Massachusetts, also from some Irish who claimed the Kennedys had become lace curtain Irish. And Old Joe Kennedy had to contribute to an awful lot of Italian charities and hospitals in Massachusetts to make up for it.

This will still be in Furcolo's mind when he sits down as Governor of Massachusetts with the power to name Kennedy's successor to the Senate. Though he does not particularly love the President-elect, Furcolo will probably appoint the man Jack wants, and that man is Jack's old roommate at Harvard, Congressman Torbert H. MacDonald.

MacDonald was the first Irish Catholic football captain at Harvard, is now on the House Commerce Committee and has been stumping for the last four years to make Kennedy President. He is a fine Congressman, would make a good Senator.

Note—Kennedy is not likely to get together with Governor Furcolo before the Electoral College meets December 19. He doesn't want to be out of a Senate job before he's firm in his Presidential job.

Behind The Scenes

Bobby Kennedy has confided to friends that he'd like to be Attorney General just long enough to jail Teamster Boss Jimmy Hoffa . . . Jim Hagerty has an offer of more than one million dollars to write his memoirs. Since he's one of the few men who've been on the inside with Ike for the entire eight years, his book could be a sensation . . . Lipton's tea, though a British company, has already put in a bid to sponsor the Democratic and Republican conventions for President in 1964 . . . Secret Service agents are complaining — good naturedly — about guarding the President-elect. Kennedy almost exhausted them in Florida with the most vigorous vacation of any President in years. He swam, fished, played football and tennis. Every time he plunged into the ocean, the Secret Service had to go swimming with him. (Maybe they were protecting him from sharks—or females).

Merry-Go-Round

Washington shops have been offering Mrs. John Walsh, wife of Mrs. Kennedy's doctor, all sorts of gowns for the Inaugural Ball. Mrs. Walsh happens to be a Republican. She is going to the ball, but she has turned down the free gowns . . . Dr. Walsh is the son of the physician to that pillar of Republicanism—President McKinley . . . Fidel Castro is so burned up over the latest Parisian song hit, "Don't Go To Havana," that he's actually protested to the French government . . . President Eisenhower has received invitations from 23 countries to visit them after he leaves the White House. He'll take a world cruise by slow boat which may include most of these countries. He figures the trip will last at least six months. It should atone for the frosty turn-down when he wanted to go to Japan last spring . . . The USS George Washington, first Polaris combat submarine, shoved off for two months underseas voyage recently without a chaplain. It carried, instead, recordings of sermons on video tape of a chaplain offering spiritual comfort. The recordings will be played on Sundays several hundred feet underwater.

The last of the one-man airlines is National and Ted Baker. He runs it like a kid with his own electric trains. Baker is a deep-chested man with a 90-pound jaw. He looks and talks like a fighter, but, inside he's as shy as an old maid in the wrong line at Vic Tanney's. At parties, Baker is the big man leaning against the wall. At stockholders' meetings, he's the one who threatens to slug the insolent heckler.

At one time in American history, there were a lot of one-man airlines: Rickenbacker of Eastern; Juan Trippe of Pan-American; Howard Hughes of TWA; C. R. Smith of American. Those days are gone. The lines are so big that they are in many businesses, from food to oil to machined parts, taxes, unions, weather, banks, advertising and politics.

George Theodore Baker, 60, sits in an air-conditioned office off the edge of the runways at Miami International Airport. He hangs his jacket on an old upwright propellor standing on a hubcap. "I'm a success," he says. "I started National Airlines with $2,000, now I owe $40,000,000."

He is a man's man. Baker looks everyone squarely in the eye and whatever he has to say comes out bluntly. He is no diplomat. Most of his time is spent fighting for more customers for National Air Lines; the rest of it is spent running around 27 acres of hangar, repair shops, schedule boards, listening to operators make reservations, watching pilots train in million-dollar simulators of Electras, DC-8's and other planes.

There are two people who can melt Baker down with a glance. One is his attractive blonde wife, who used to be Irma Wilsen, movie starlet. The other is his daughter Barbara, 13, who has her own jumping horse. Ted Baker can be breathing like a bull on the wrong side of a fence and all they have to do is look at him. He stops pawing the ground.

Once he was a Chicago kid. His father was circulation manager of the old Daily News. In 1911, Ted went to an air show in Grant Park. That did it. He watched the big box kites take off, fly around the lakeside, and come back in. He spent his nickel carfare for a candy bar, and walked home. He had to be a flier.

He served in the tank corps in World War I and, when Ted got back to Chicago, he sold candy. He also sold adding machines and saved money. He bought and sold used cars too. Later, he had an opportunity to buy an old airplane with a poor name—Eagle Rock—and he bought it, flew it, patched it up and sold it.

Baker was a big kid — 210 pounds — and happy. He bought a Waco, a Standard, and a fleet of OX-5's. He fixed them up, repainted them, and sold them. In 1930, he opened the National Air Lines Taxi System. He hired out to anybody who wanted to go anywhere.

One time the singer Harry Richman said he wanted to fly to Miami. Baker flew him in a Travelair at night and, as he passed cities, he had to come down low to read the street signs. The oil pressure died over the mountains of Kentucky and Richman and Baker found themselves on a dark road, walking.

The U.S. Government decided to fly the mail from St. Petersburg, Fla., to Daytona — about 150 miles — and Baker put in a bid. He got the job, "provided that his planes can maintain 110 miles per hour in flight." They did. Ted Baker liked the work, and put in more bids. He flew mail from Jacksonville to New Orleans, from St. Petersburg to Miami.

In the mid-thirties, he received permission to fly passengers from Jacksonville to New York. Later, he added Miami, Havana and Boston to the list. National grew fast. The stock went on the market. Baker held 12½% of it for his wife and child. National borrowed millions to buy bigger, better planes and it began to compete with the big systems.

Baker, who spawned and nursed National, became an employee. As president he gets $60,000, about one-ninth of what Mr. Louis B. Mayer used to pay himself for working at Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer.

Pan-American got the first pure jets last year, but could use them only outside the U. S. Baker leased three for the New York-Miami run so that National could boast having the first pure jets inside the country. Today, National has 47 active aircraft, ranging from DC-6B's on up through Super H Constellations, Convairs, Lockheed Electras and DC-8's.

National has assets of a hundred million dollars, which is a long way from the day Baker blew his nickel carfare on a candy bar. When I let him, I said:

"Meet you tonight. We'll play a little gin."

"Tenth of a cent a point," he said.

"You must be the last of the big plungers," I said.

"Make it 8 o'clock," said the tough guy. "I have to help Barbara with her homework." . . .

Mineral Co. Educational Group Meets

Miss Ella Bergdoll Addresses Teachers

KEYSER—The Mineral County Education Association met Monday evening in the auditorium of Keyser High School.

Owen S. Schaeffer, president of the M.C.E.A. and Mrs. Nelle S. Smith, president of the County Teacher Association, presided at the meeting.

Group singing was led by Mrs. Katherine Church and Mrs. Phyllis Chapman. The invocation was given by Rev. Millard R. Floyd, pastor of the Calvary Evangelical United Brethren Church of Keyser.

S. T. McGee, superintendent of Mineral County Schools, presented Miss Madelyn Bazzle the "Freedom Foundation of Valley Forge" award.

Rev. Millard Floyd sang following the presentation. This was followed by a talk by Miss Ella Bergdoll, of Moorefield, who is state president of the Classroom Teachers Association. Remarks on the M.C.E.A. Credit Union were given by Charles Wimer, president of the union.

A business meeting of the M.C.E.A. followed a song by Miss Bergdoll.

A social hour honoring new teachers and the state president was held following the business session.

Appointed to the teachers welfare committee were Neff Wimer, Frank Burgess and Gerald Marsh.

PRESIDENT — Kathy Carter, a senior at Valley High School, was elected president of the National Honor Society. She is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Downton, Midland. She is assistant editor of the "Lance," yearbook staff, and treasurer of the French Club. Kathy also belongs to the Future Homemakers of America, Future Teachers of America, and Tri-Hi-Y.

Frostburg IRC Plans Overseas Book Campaign

Exchange Student May Be Sponsored

FROSTBURG — Plans for an overseas book drive; sponsoring of an exchange student; a trip to Montreal and election of replacements to fill the offices left vacant in the International Relations Club of Frostburg State Teachers College, were the highlights of their recent meeting.

A drive for books on the college and secondary school level will be conducted for Asiatic countries, where a great need for such books now exists. At present, only Russia and Red China have been sending such books to Asia, and the IRC Clubs of America are now beginning to help these countries with American textbooks. Last year a large carton of books was sent to South Korea in the Freedom Book Drive under the general chairmanship of Archibald Mac Leish. American classics in political theory are being sent this year by the college IRC, especially to African leaders.

The possibility of sponsoring a foreign student at FSTC next year was discussed and is being investigated.

Galen Clagett and Carolyn Baucom were elected vice president and reporter respectively to fill vacancies left by students who did not return this fall.

An invitation to the Frostburg club to send representatives to the IRC international conference in Montreal in February was announced. About 40 colleges and universities in the United States are invited and Frostburg has been the only Maryland college or university among this group. Each school is given a country to represent at the conference in their model United Nations program. Frostburg has been asked to represent either India, Indonesia or Israel. This will be the third year the school will have participated in the project.

Reports were given by the students who attended the regional meeting of college International Relations Clubs in New York recently. These students presented a panel on the convention which highlighted discussion of the United States foreign policy and Southeast Asia. Each delegate was assigned one of four aspects of the topic: political, economic, military or cultural. They then participated in a round-table discussion on specific topics. The University of Baltimore was the only other Maryland school represented at New York.

The club announced also that it had collected from various organizations and individuals on the campus last year, a total of $92 for the world university service. WUS heads collections on university and college campuses all over the world to provide material assistance to students and teachers, particularly now in Asia and Africa. This year's drive will begin in the near future.

Potomac State College Submits $500,000 Budget

Acute Need For Classrooms Cited

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—President Elvis Stahr of West Virginia University told the State Board of Public Works Monday that "explosions of technology increase the needs of West Virginia for higher development of trained brainpower."

Pleading for a $4 million 1961-62 budget increase to a total of $12.3 million, Stahr said.

"This progress increases the need for greater financial support of the University."

However, State Finance Director Henry Ash recommended an increase of only $45,000 for WVU in the next fiscal year, or some $8.4 million.

Ash also told the board that West Virginia's nine state - supported colleges seek 1961-62 budget proposals totaling $10.5 million, or $2.6 million over their current fiscal year allocations.

However, in his own recommendations for the colleges, Ash had no increases for the institutions.

Also appearing before the board Monday was Potomac State President E. E. Church, who sought approval of a $500,000 budget. He told the board that his college had an "acute" need for more dormitories and classrooms.

The requests of the nine state colleges, compared with Ash's recommendations, included:

Marshall $2.9 million, $2.3 million; Fairmont 953,750, 783,860; Glenville 766,209, 536,080; West Liberty 765,317, 560,980; Shepherd 637,866, 531,770; Concord 1.5 million, 839,400; Tech 1.1 million, 730,780; W. Va. State 1.5 million, 1.2 million; Bluefield 524,952, 454,625.

Ordinance Amendment Approved

PIEDMONT—An amendment to Ordinance 34, which pertains to the operation of taverns and places of amusement, was unanimously approved by the Mayor and Council Monday night.

The amendment states that all patrons of such places must vacate the premises by 12:30 a. m. For each violation a fine of $5 to $50 may be levied, or one to 0 days in jail or both. However, permission may be given by council to remain open longer.

The only change in the ordinance, which was passed October 1923 was the time for vacating the premises.

The amendment was drawn up on a recommendation of the Police Department due to numerous complaints.

Mayor Rodney Baker read the monthly report of the police force as follows: Arrests—three reckless driving, one failure to halt at stop sign, one using expired automobile tags, one with no operator's card, one failure to yield right-of-way for fire truck, one failure to comply with order of police officer, three intoxications, two disorderly conduct, one robbery, one grand larceny, nine gambling, three disturbances and two destruction of property. There were eight investigations, 15 complaints, also one mental case. Fines collected for parking violations amounted to $102.15.

Mayor Baker said persons who desire to park all day for 25 cents may do so if they use the Parking Lot 2 between Second and Third Streets. Heretofore, persons employed in the business section have been parking on Ashfield, Green, Second and Third Streets for that price.

The Christmas street lights will be turned on this evening. Mrs. J. B. Maybury Sr., East Hampshire Street, has donated a Christmas tree to be placed on Parking Lot 1.

An adjustment was ordered in the water bill of Oliver Michael, East Hampshire Steret.

Joseph Maybury, town clerk, reported $18,826 in receipts for the first five months of the fiscal year, and expenditures of $15,318.

Sammy Amoruso asked to rent part of the parking lot near the town building area. The placing of meters there was discussed, but no action was taken.

Mayor Baker warned that persons following the fire truck too closely will be prosecuted. The order also includes firemen.

Club To Meet

FROSTBURG—The Mt. Pleasant Street Neighborhood Club will meet today at the home of Martha Kerr for their Christmas party at 8 p. m.

Lions Meeting Set Tomorrow

WESTERNPORT—The regular dinner meeting of the Tri-Towns Lions Club will be held tomorrow at 6:30 p. m. in the recreation room of Mt. Calvary Lutheran Church.

Fluoridation of the drinking water of the Tri-Towns, which has been endorsed by the Piedmont Rotary Club, will be discussed at the meeting tomorrow by Anton Sparr, William Devens, Dr. James H. Wolverton Jr., Dr. Lawrence Fanti, and Jack I. Mullen, attorney, members of the Rotary Club.

A zone meeting will also be held. Those attending will be John Conway, LaVale district deputy; Thomas R. Bosley, Lonaconing, zone chairman and Arthur Moats, Hagerstown, roaring Lions chairman.

The annual Christmas party for the members of the club and their children will be held Thursday, December 22.

Members of the club will man the Salvation Army kettle on Friday December 23. They are asked to turn in their money from the sale of fruit cakes as soon as possible.

Lonaconing's Water Rates Are Increased

New Prices Start On January 1

LONACONING — Lonaconing Water Company has given notice to consumers that, subject to the approval of the Public Service Commission of Maryland, new and increased rates for water consumption will become effective January 1, 1961.

Mineral Co. Educational Group Meets

Miss Ella Bergdoll Addresses Teachers

KEYSER—The Mineral County Education Association met Monday evening in the auditorium of Keyser High School.

Owen S. Schaeffer, president of the M.C.E.A. and Mrs. Nelle S. Smith, president of the County Teacher Association, presided at the meeting.

Group singing was led by Mrs. Katherine Church and Mrs. Phyllis Chapman. The invocation was given by Rev. Millard R. Floyd, pastor of the Calvary Evangelical United Brethren Church of Keyser.

S. T. McGee, superintendent of Mineral County Schools, presented Miss Madelyn Bazzle the "Freedom Foundation of Valley Forge" award.

Rev. Millard Floyd sang following the presentation. This was followed by a talk by Miss Ella Bergdoll, of Moorefield, who is state president of the Classroom Teachers Association. Remarks on the M.C.E.A. Credit Union were given by Charles Wimer, president of the union.

A business meeting of the M.C.E.A. followed a song by Miss Bergdoll.

A social hour honoring new teachers and the state president was held following the business session.

Appointed to the teachers welfare committee were Neff Wimer, Frank Burgess and Gerald Marsh.

PRESIDENT — Kathy Carter, a senior at Valley High School, was elected president of the National Honor Society. She is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Downton, Midland. She is assistant editor of the "Lance," yearbook staff, and treasurer of the French Club. Kathy also belongs to the Future Homemakers of America, Future Teachers of America, and Tri-Hi-Y.

Oldtown PTA Meets Tomorrow

OLDTOWN — Oldtown School PTA will hold its monthly meeting tomorrow at 8 p. m. at the school. Teacher visitation will begin at 7:30 p. m.

The meeting will include a report by PTA President Jack Wolfe on a recent discussion with Sen. Charles M. See concerning an increased curriculum at the school.

The program also will include a vote on plans to change the PTA by-laws and plans for a dance.

Yule Party Planned By Frostburg Group

FROSTBURG—The Mary Martha Class of First English Baptist Church will meet Friday at 8 p.m. at the home of Mrs. Mary Rankin, 175 First Street for their annual Christmas party.

Mrs. Phyllis Lancaster will preside. Mrs. Edna Knepp will be in charge of the Christmas program.

Frostburg IRC Plans Overseas Book Campaign

Ordinance Amendment Approved

PIEDMONT—An amendment to Ordinance 34, which pertains to the operation of taverns and places of amusement, was unanimously approved by the Mayor and Council Monday night.

The amendment states that all patrons of such places must vacate the premises by 12:30 a. m. For each violation a fine of $5 to $50 may be levied, or one to 10 days in jail or both. However, permission may be given by council to remain open longer.

The only change in the ordinance, which was passed October 1923 was the time for vacating the premises.

The amendment was drawn up on a recommendation of the Police Department due to numerous complaints.

Mayor Rodney Baker read the monthly report of the police force as follows: Arrests—three reckless driving, one failure to halt at stop sign, one using expired automobile tags, one with no operator's card, one failure to yield right-of-way for fire truck, one failure to comply with order of police officer, three intoxications, two disorderly conduct, one robbery, one grand larceny, nine gambling, three disturbances and two destruction of property. There were eight investigations, 15 complaints, also one mental case. Fines collected for parking violations amounted to $102.15.

Mayor Baker said persons who desire to park all day for 25 cents may do so if they use the Parking Lot 2 between Second and Third Streets. Heretofore, persons employed in the business section have been parking on Ashfield, Green, Second and Third Streets for that price.

The Christmas street lights will be turned on this evening. Mrs. J. B. Maybury Sr., East Hampshire Street, has donated a Christmas tree to be placed on Parking Lot 1.

An adjustment was ordered in the water bill of Oliver Michael, East Hampshire Steret.

Joseph Maybury, town clerk, reported $18,826 in receipts for the first five months of the fiscal year, and expenditures of $15,318.

Sammy Amoruso asked to rent part of the parking lot near the town building area. The placing of meters there was discussed, but no action was taken.

Mayor Baker warned that persons following the fire truck too closely will be prosecuted. The order also includes firemen.

Boxing Probe Studies Role Of Palermo

By FRED S. HOFFMAN

WASHINGTON (AP) — Frank (Blinky) Palermo, reputed standin as underworld czar of boxing, was named by a Senate investigator Tuesday as shadow manager of Sonny Liston, ranking heavyweight contender.

Palermo is "the important one" to see in arranging bouts for Liston, special counsel John G. Bonomi told a Senate Antimonopoly subcommittee probing gangland influences in bigtime boxing.

Truman Gibson, former president of the onetime powerful International Boxing clubs of New York and Chicago, agreed with Bonomi's statement about the alleged Palermo-Liston relationship.

Other Developments

The day's hearing also turned up these major developments:

1. Investigators produced grand jury testimony in which former fight manager Herman (Hymie the Mink) Wallman of New York agreed that mobster Frankie Carbo virtually controlled matchmaking in Madison Square Garden. Palermo allegedly is exercising Carbo's powers while Carbo is in prison.

Wallman was in the subcommittee witness chair when the grand jury testimony was read into the record. He supplemented it by saying Carbo pulled strings to obtain Garden bouts for fighters Wallman managed.

No longer managing, Wallman said Carbo exercised his influence through matchmaker Billy Brown, who worked for the New York IBC before it was disbanded by court order last year.

2. Billy Rosensohn, who hardly got started as a fight promoter, testified he wasn't able to sign heavyweight champ Floyd Patterson to fight Ingemar Johansson in 1959 until Rosensohn agreed to cut gamblers Anthony (Fat Tony) Salerno and Charles Black in on most of the profits.

The first Patterson-Johansson fight turned out to be a losing proposition by $70,000 Rosensohn said.

Spoke For Fighter

In questioning Gibson, Bonomi contended that Liston was given four nationally televised matches after it became clear Palermo spoke for the 26-year-old heavyweight challenger.

American Loop Gives L. A. Franchise To Autry Group

Plans Expansion To 10 Teams In '61

By NORMAN MILLER

ST. LOUIS (UPI) — The American League, obviously convinced that its nine-club inter-league plan is dead, Tuesday signified its intention of expanding to 10 clubs in 1961 by granting a Los Angeles franchise to a group headed by cowbody singer Gene Autry.

Although President Warren Giles of the National League steadfastly maintained that his group had not yet discussed the AL's latest nine-club inter-league plan, it was obvious that there was little sentiment favoring it among NL owners.

Both leagues returned to closed separate sessions at 4 p.m. EST to resume their deliberations on the strife-ridden expansion matter.

President Joe Cronin of the American League announced at the lunch-time break in the meetings that the Autry group "was granted membership . . . to operate an American League club in Los Angeles commencing with the 1961 season."

Besides Autry, the leading members of the syndicate are Robert Reynolds, former Stanford tackle who now is a California radio executive; Paul O'Bryan, a Washington patent attorney; Kenyon Brown, a West Coast television executive, and Joseph A. Thomas, a Florida banker. O'Bryan, Brown and Thomas once owned stock in the Detroit Tigers.

Reynolds said that Fred Haney, former manager of the Pittsburgh Pirates and Milwaukee Braves, would be connected with the new Los Angeles club in an executive capacity. He was expected to fulfill the function of general manager and select the players for stocking of the club.

While the American League defiantly announced its intention of expanding to 10 clubs next season, contrary to the wishes of Los Angeles Dodgers President Walter O'Malley, the NL owners were reported seeking some compromise solution in a muddle.

It was clear that the National League was not interested in the AL's invitation Monday night for the NL to move into New York with no strings attached and play a nine-club interlocking schedule in 1961.

"What they don't seen to understand," said one NL official, "is that we are not interested in nine-club inter-league play, no matter what city's involved."

The National League plans to expand to 10 clubs in 1962 with the addition of New York and Houston.

Treeless Christmas

SHETLAND ISLANDS, Scotland (AP)—Residents of the Shetlands are going to have a treeless Chritsmas because of foot and mouth disease now sweeping Scotland. The islanders, who have no trees of their own, decided against importing trees for fear they may bring the infection to Shetland sheep.

Boxing Probe Studies Role Of Palermo

By FRED S. HOFFMAN

WASHINGTON (AP) — Frank (Blinky) Palermo, reputed standin as underworld czar of boxing, was named by a Senate investigator Tuesday as shadow manager of Sonny Liston, ranking heavyweight contender.

Palermo is "the important one" to see in arranging bouts for Liston, special counsel John G. Bonomi told a Senate Antimonopoly subcommittee probing gangland influences in bigtime boxing.

Truman Gibson, former president of the onetime powerful International Boxing clubs of New York and Chicago, agreed with Bonomi's statement about the alleged Palermo-Liston relationship.

Other Developments

The day's hearing also turned up these major developments:

1. Investigators produced grand jury testimony in which former fight manager Herman (Hymie the Mink) Wallman of New York agreed that mobster Frankie Carbo virtually controlled matchmaking in Madison Square Garden. Palermo allegedly is exercising Carbo's powers while Carbo is in prison.

Wallman was in the subcommittee witness chair when the grand jury testimony was read into the record. He supplemented it by saying Carbo pulled strings to obtain Garden bouts for fighters Wallman managed.

No longer managing, Wallman said Carbo exercised his influence through matchmaker Billy Brown, who worked for the New York IBC before it was disbanded by court order last year.

2. Billy Rosensohn, who hardly got started as a fight promoter, testified he wasn't able to sign heavyweight champ Floyd Patterson to fight Ingemar Johansson in 1959 until Rosensohn agreed to cut gamblers Anthony (Fat Tony) Salerno and Charles Black in on most of the profits.

The first Patterson-Johansson fight turned out to be a losing proposition by $70,000 Rosensohn said.

Spoke For Fighter

Arnold, Kendall, Lehman Account For 74 Markers

Coach John S. Keller's Hyndman High School Hornets, sparked by the sharpshooting of Jim Arnold, John Kendall and Vohn Lehman, who accounted for 74 points, turned back Mt. Savage High School in the latter's opening game of the season last night at Hyndman. The score was 77-62.

The win was the first of the season for the Pennsylvanians.

Arnold headed the assault with 29 points, Kendall collected 23 and Lehman had 22 to his credit.

Robert Robertson and Ralph Wilson, a pair of freshmen forwards, set the scoring pace for Mt. Savage with 22 and 12 points, respectively. Twain Lowery collected 11 and Bill Adams had ten.

Hyndman enjoyed a 33-28 edge at intermission.

Mt. Savage lost the preliminary game to the Hyndman junior varsity quint by the score of 46-25. Box score:

American Loop Gives L. A. Franchise To Autry Group

Plans Expansion To 10 Teams In '61

By NORMAN MILLER

ST. LOUIS (UPI) — The American League, obviously convinced that its nine-club inter-league plan is dead, Tuesday signified its intention of expanding to 10 clubs in 1961 by granting a Los Angeles franchise to a group headed by cowbody singer Gene Autry.

Although President Warren Giles of the National League steadfastly maintained that his group had not yet discussed the AL's latest nine-club inter-league plan, it was obvious that there was little sentiment favoring it among NL owners.

Both leagues returned to closed separate sessions at 4 p.m. EST to resume their deliberations on the strife-ridden expansion matter.

President Joe Cronin of the American League announced at the lunch-time break in the meetings that the Autry group "was granted membership . . . to operate an American League club in Los Angeles commencing with the 1961 season."

Besides Autry, the leading members of the syndicate are Robert Reynolds, former Stanford tackle who now is a California radio executive; Paul O'Bryan, a Washington patent attorney; Kenyon Brown, a West Coast television executive, and Joseph A. Thomas, a Florida banker. O'Bryan, Brown and Thomas once owned stock in the Detroit Tigers.

Reynolds said that Fred Haney, former manager of the Pittsburgh Pirates and Milwaukee Braves, would be connected with the new Los Angeles club in an executive capacity. He was expected to fulfill the function of general manager and select the players for stocking of the club.

While the American League defiantly announced its intention of expanding to 10 clubs next season, contrary to the wishes of Los Angeles Dodgers President Walter O'Malley, the NL owners were reported seeking some compromise solution in a muddle.

It was clear that the National League was not interested in the AL's invitation Monday night for the NL to move into New York with no strings attached and play a nine-club interlocking schedule in 1961.

"What they don't seen to understand," said one NL official, "is that we are not interested in nine-club inter-league play, no matter what city's involved."

The National League plans to expand to 10 clubs in 1962 with the addition of New York and Houston.

Treeless Christmas

SHETLAND ISLANDS, Scotland (AP)—Residents of the Shetlands are going to have a treeless Chritsmas because of foot and mouth disease now sweeping Scotland. The islanders, who have no trees of their own, decided against importing trees for fear they may bring the infection to Shetland sheep.

LaSalle Hosts Bayard In P.V.C. Debut Here Tonight

Blackhawks To Entertain Elk Garden

Explorers Play League Ball After 25-Year Lapse

After playing independent ball for the past 25 years, LaSalle High School returns to league basketball tonight when it makes its debut in the Potomac Valley Conference, a West Virginia-Maryland circuit composed of 19 teams.

Joe Wagner and "Chick" Snider will officiate.

LaSalle was a member of the W.M.I. Basketball League from 1922 through 1935. The Explorers also played soccer in the same circuit in the 1920s.

Bayard High School of Grant county will be the Explorers initial foe of the season and tonight's game will be staged at SS. Peter & Paul gymnasium at 8 o'clock.

Long Heads Holdovers

LaSalle lost Mickey Scaletta, Mike Firlie, Tommy Simpson and Jack Hudson from the 1959-60 quint that won 22 and lost five games and posted a 4-0 record in city competition, but Coach George Geatz, who starts his 7th season at the Explorers' helm, appears to have a group of promising boys on hand for another campaign.

Mike Long, who registered 391 points in 24 games last season, is developing fast and should be the team's chief scoring threat. The four others slated to start, namely Gary Blake, Phil Barbe, Carroll Wilt and John Sloan all played in 16 or more games last season. Other members of the squad include Donnie Harden, Bobby Green, Joe Nolan, John Sitter, Vincent Catania and Bill Stakem.

LaSalle is the first Cumberland school to open the season this week. Allegany doesn't start until December 16 when Martinsburg will be met here. Fort Hill opens at Martinsburg December 21.

Elks Visit Ridgeley

The second P.V.C. game on tap tonight brings together Elk Garden and Ridgeley on the latter's court. Coach Tom O'Connor's Blackhawks have a 2-0 record in the conference with victories over the West Virginia School for the Deaf and Romney. Elk Garden dropped a 60-42 decision to Piedmont in its first start.

Coach Orville "Stony" Jackson's Flintstone High cagers open the season tonight by playing the Fort Ashby junior varsity quint at Fort Ashby.

Three-Day Deer Kill Of 597 Tops 1959 Seven-Day Total

57 Slain Tuesday, All-Time High 623 Could Tumble Today

Gunners have killed more deer on the first three days of the current season in Allegany county than they bagged during the first seven-day season in 1959.

A total of 57 whitetails were checked yesterday, boosting the three-day total to 597, which tops last season's kill by 26. Five hundred and seventy-one animals fell before hunters' guns in seven days last year.

Allegany county's all-time record kill was recorded in 1957 during a six-day season when the total soared to 623. That record will fall today on the fourth day of the season if the hunters slay 27 or more bucks. The season ends Saturday.

Joseph A. Minke, regional game warden, last night reported that seven deer killed in Allegany county were checked yesterday at Washington county stations.

At the LaVale Barracks of the Maryland State Police 26 bucks were checked yesterday, Graydon Dunlap reported 12 at Shipway's Inn, Green Ridge, while Hess' Service Station at Oldtown and the Westernport Police Station had six each.

Potomac State Tops Frostburg For First Win

Checkan, Thompson Pace 71-58 Triumph

FROSTBURG—Potomac State's Catamounts registered their first win of the basketball season last night after losing two straight by defeating Frostburg State Teachers, 71-58, on the Bobcats floor here.

Potomac jumped off to a 32-29 halftime lead and steadily increased the margin in the second half. Mike Checkan and John Allen paced the victors with 21 and 20 points respectively.

Penn Quint Tops Middies, 64-53

ANNAPOLIS (AP) — Penn capitalized on a 14-point first half by senior Bob Mlkvy and a 13-point second half by sophomore J. D. Graham Tuesday in taking a 64-53 basketball victory over Navy.

Mlkvy and Graham, both 6-4, ended with 18 points apiece and took scoring honors for the game. The Middies were paced by junior Bill Kirvan who finished with 14.

Mlkvy is the brother of Bill Mlkvy, an All America player at Temple in 1951.

WVU Bows, 83-80, To The Citadel

MORGANTOWN, W. Va. (AP) — An aroused Citadel basketball team had a bit of power left Tuesday night in the closing seconds and scored an 83-80 victory over West Virginia in a Southern Conference game.

The Bulldogs snapped a WVU 44-game winning streak on the Mountaineer court in posting their third consecutive victory of the new season. It made West Virginia 1-1 for the new year and marked the first time they had lost to the visitors in four games.

NBA Player Is Fined For Gross Misconduct

NEW YORK (UPI)—Jim Loscutoff of the Boston Celtics was fined $300 by President Maurice Podoloff of the National Basketball Association Tuesday for "gross misconduct" in a game against the St. Louis Hawks Nov. 29.

Loscutoff was charged with making an obscene gesture during the game at St. Louis. His action was not detected by the officials but it was reported to Podoloff by outsiders, the spokesman said.

Fred Fitzsimmons Named Bees' Coach

SALT LAKE CITY (UPI)—Former major league pitcher Fred Fitzsimmons has signed as a coach by the Salt Lake City Bees of the Pacific Coast League, club officials announced Tuesday.

Fitzsimmons, a 19-year pitching veteran with the Giants and Dodgers in the National League, was a coach with the Kansas City Athletics.

Herman Franks, general manager of the Bees, said the 59-year-old Fitzsimmons would work with the pitchers and do much of the coaching in his new assignment.

Hamilton And Evans Get 17 Points Each

Beall High School's Mountaineers launched their basketball campaign last night with a 66-49 victory over Fort Ashby High School's Eagles at Frostburg.

The Mountaineers, making their season debut in the Potomac Valley Conference, outscored the visitors 26 to 16 from the field but were outpointed at the free throw line, 17-14.

Marshall Hamilton and Jim Evans sparked the Beall attack with 17 tallies each while Allen Eisel and Wayne Metz tossed in eleven points each.

Paul Price was the "big gun" for Fort Ashby with 27 points to his credit. He dumped in eleven field goals and meshed 5 of 14 shots at the charity line.

Philadelphia Will Get NFL Title Battle

Richest Gate In Pro Football Expected

NEW YORK (AP)—The National Football League girded Tuesday for almost every eventuality in its close Western Conference race, with only one fact clearly established—the league championship game will be played in Philadelphia and probably will draw the richest gate in pro football history

The Philadelphia Eagles, Eastern Conference winners, will meet one of five Western teams at Franklin Field, and if all 67,504 seats are sold they would bring in excess of $500,000 with radio and TV (NBC) paying $200,000 more.

The date of the championship game will depend on how long it takes to decide the Western race, but it will start at noon (EST) because Franklin Field does not have lights.

If the Western Conference can settle its squabble within the regular schedule, the championship game would be Monday, Dec. 26. If a single playoff game is required, it will be played Dec. 26, pushing the championship game back to Jan. 1.

If the Western race ends in a three or four way tie, two playoff dates will be needed—Dec. 26 and Jan. 1—with the championship postponed until Jan. 8.

Baltimore, San Francisco, and Green Bay are tied for the Western lead with 6-4 records, followed by Chicago with 5-4-1 and Detroit at 5-5.

LaSalle Hosts Bayard In P.V.C. Debut Here Tonight

Explorers Play League Ball After 25-Year Lapse

After playing independent ball for the past 25 years, LaSalle High School returns to league basketball tonight when it makes its debut in the Potomac Valley Conference, a West Virginia-Maryland circuit composed of 19 teams.

Joe Wagner and "Chick" Snider will officiate.

LaSalle was a member of the W.M.I. Basketball League from 1922 through 1935. The Explorers also played soccer in the same circuit in the 1920s.

Bayard High School of Grant county will be the Explorers initial foe of the season and tonight's game will be staged at SS. Peter & Paul gymnasium at 8 o'clock.

The West Virginia quint, making its first appearance on a LaSalle cage schedule, is coached by Francis Maleonskie, one-time Davis High School star.

Long Heads Holdovers

LaSalle lost Mickey Scaletta, Mike Firlie, Tommy Simpson and Jack Hudson from the 1959-60 quint that won 22 and lost five games and posted a 4-0 record in city competition, but Coach George Geatz, who starts his 7th season at the Explorers' helm, appears to have a group of promising boys on hand for another campaign.

Mike Long, who registered 391 points in 24 games last season, is developing fast and should be the team's chief scoring threat. The four others slated to start, namely Gary Blake, Phil Barbe, Carroll Wilt and John Sloan all played in 16 or more games last season. Other members of the squad include Donnie Harden, Bobby Green, Joe Nolan, John Sitter, Vincent Catania and Bill Stakem.

LaSalle is the first Cumberland school to open the season this week. Allegany doesn't start until December 16 when Martinsburg will be met here. Fort Hill opens at Martinsburg December 21.

Elks Visit Ridgeley

The second P.V.C. game on tap tonight brings together Elk Garden and Ridgeley on the latter's court. Coach Tom O'Connor's Blackhawks have a 2-0 record in the conference with victories over the West Virginia School for the Deaf and Romney. Elk Garden dropped a 60-42 decision to Piedmont in its first start.

Coach Orville "Stony" Jackson's Flintstone High cagers open the season tonight by playing the Fort Ashby junior varsity quint at Fort Ashby.

Fights In Italy

MILAN, Italy (AP) — Lightweight champion Joe Brown of Houston makes his European debut Wednesday night in a 10-round nontitle bout with Giordano Campari, Italian lightweight king.

Brown is a 3-1 favorite but well aware that the last American world champ to fight in Italy, Archie Moore, was upset in a nontitle bout with unknown Guilio Rinaldi in Rome.

Bets Exceed Billion

ALBANY, N.Y. (UPI)—A record-shattering $1.037 billion was bet legally on horse racing in New York State this year, the state Tax Commission disclosed Tuesday.

It was the first time in history that wagering in the state exceeded the billion dollar mark.

Three-Day Deer Kill Of 597 Tops 1959 Seven-Day Total

57 Slain Tuesday, All-Time High 623 Could Tumble Today

Gunners have killed more deer on the first three days of the current season in Allegany county than they bagged during the first seven-day season in 1959.

A total of 57 whitetails were checked yesterday, boosting the three-day total to 597, which tops last season's kill by 26. Five hundred and seventy-one animals fell before hunters' guns in seven days last year.

Allegany county's all-time record kill was recorded in 1957 during a six-day season when the total soared to 623. That record will fall today on the fourth day of the season if the hunters slay 27 or more bucks. The season ends Saturday.

Joseph A. Minke, regional game warden, last night reported that seven deer killed in Allegany county were checked yesterday at Washington county stations.

At the LaVale Barracks of the Maryland State Police 26 bucks were checked yesterday, Graydon Dunlap reported 12 at Shipway's Inn, Green Ridge, while Hess' Service Station at Oldtown and the Westernport Police Station had six each.

State Police 185, Shipways 147, Hess' 110, Westernport 40. Other stations outside Allegany county reported 115.

Allegany county's kills totaled 424 on Saturday, a single day's record, and 116 Monday.

Potomac State Tops Frostburg For First Win

Checkan, Thompson Pace 71-58 Triumph

FROSTBURG—Potomac State's Catamounts registered their first win of the basketball season last night after losing two straight by defeating Frostburg State Teachers, 71-58, on the Bobcats floor here.

Potomac jumped off to a 32-29 halftime lead and steadily increased the margin in the second half. Mike Checkan and John Allen paced the victors with 21 and 20 points respectively.

Penn Quint Tops Middies, 64-53

ANNAPOLIS (AP) — Penn capitalized on a 14-point first half by senior Bob Mlkvy and a 13-point second half by sophomore J. D. Graham Tuesday in taking a 64-53 basketball victory over Navy.

Mlkvy and Graham, both 6-4, ended with 18 points apiece and took scoring honors for the game. The Middies were paced by junior Bill Kirvan who finished with 14.

Mlkvy is the brother of Bill Mlkvy, an All America player at Temple in 1951.

WVU Bows, 83-80, To The Citadel

MORGANTOWN, W. Va. (AP) — An aroused Citadel basketball team had a bit of power left Tuesday night in the closing seconds and scored an 83-80 victory over West Virginia in a Southern Conference game.

The Bulldogs snapped a WVU 44-game winning streak on the Mountaineer court in posting their third consecutive victory of the new season. It made West Virginia 1-1 for the new year and marked the first time they had lost to the visitors in four games.

The game was tied nine times and the lead changed hands six.

NBA Player Is Fined For Gross Misconduct

NEW YORK (UPI)—Jim Loscutoff of the Boston Celtics was fined $300 by President Maurice Podoloff of the National Basketball Association Tuesday for "gross misconduct" in a game against the St. Louis Hawks Nov. 29.

A league spokesman said it was one of the severest fines ever imposed on an NBA player.

Loscutoff was charged with making an obscene gesture during the game at St. Louis. His action was not detected by the officials but it was reported to Podoloff by outsiders, the spokesman said.

Fred Fitzsimmons Named Bees' Coach

SALT LAKE CITY (UPI)—Former major league pitcher Fred Fitzsimmons has signed as a coach by the Salt Lake City Bees of the Pacific Coast League, club officials announced Tuesday.

Fitzsimmons, a 19-year pitching veteran with the Giants and Dodgers in the National League, was a coach with the Kansas City Athletics.

Herman Franks, general manager of the Bees, said the 59-year-old Fitzsimmons would work with the pitchers and do much of the coaching in his new assignment.

Beall Defeats Eagles, 66-49

Hamilton And Evans Get 17 Points Each

Beall High School's Mountaineers launched their basketball campaign last night with a 66-49 victory over Fort Ashby High School's Eagles at Frostburg.

The Mountaineers, making their season debut in the Potomac Valley Conference, outscored the visitors 26 to 16 from the field but were outpointed at the free throw line, 17-14.

Beall held a 31-14 lead at halftime.

Marshall Hamilton and Jim Evans sparked the Beall attack with 17 tallies each while Allen Eisel and Wayne Metz tossed in eleven points each.

Paul Price was the "big gun" for Fort Ashby with 27 points to his credit. He dumped in eleven field goals and meshed 5 of 14 shots at the charity line.

Philadelphia Will Get NFL Title Battle

Richest Gate In Pro Football Expected

NEW YORK (AP)—The National Football League girded Tuesday for almost every eventuality in its close Western Conference race, with only one fact clearly established—the league championship game will be played in Philadelphia and probably will draw the richest gate in pro football history

The Philadelphia Eagles, Eastern Conference winners, will meet one of five Western teams at Franklin Field, and if all 67,504 seats are sold they would bring in excess of $500,000 with radio and TV (NBC) paying $200,000 more.

The date of the championship game will depend on how long it takes to decide the Western race, but it will start at noon (EST) because Franklin Field does not have lights.

If the Western Conference can settle its squabble within the regular schedule, the championship game would be Monday, Dec. 26. If a single playoff game is required, it will be played Dec. 26, pushing the championship game back to Jan. 1.

If the Western race ends in a three or four way tie, two playoff dates will be needed—Dec. 26 and Jan. 1—with the championship postponed until Jan. 8.

Baltimore, San Francisco, and Green Bay are tied for the Western lead with 6-4 records, followed by Chicago with 5-4-1 and Detroit at 5-5.

CHRYSLER

OLDSMOBILE

If you are looking for a luxury car without that luxury price this car is for you. 1957 Oldsmobile Hardtop Holiday in excellent mechanical condition. Powerful engine combined with dual automatic transmission makes driving a pleasure. Power steering, power brakes, radio, heater, back up lights, and many small accessories add to comfort. This was one of the 1957 Spring Colors and is (clean as a pin) inside and out. Four brand new white sidewall tires too.

Market Rallies To Close With Substantial Gains

NEW YORK (UPI)—The bulls roared in the late afternoon Tuesday and the bellow enabled the stock market to close with some fairly substantial gains.

Even the steels were carried along in the upsurge that came in the face of an unrelenting round of poor business news. Other good gains were scored by the aircrafts, oils, department stores, utilities, electronics and numerous specials. The rails, however, failed to participate in the rally.

The Dow-Jones industrial average rose 3.62 points to 597.11 while rail stocks finished 0.48 lower at 126.86 and utilities jumped 0.69 to 96.35. Volume picked up on the rise to 3,360,000 shares from 3,290,000 Monday.

The market breakdown revealed 563 gainers, 426 losers and 253 holding unchanged out of a total of 1,242 issues traded. New lows, however, again more than doubled new highs by 48 to 20.

Despite the generally poor business background, the rally seemed to coincide with several individual corporate developments. Union Carbide rose 2¼ and the move stimulated others in the group.

American Tobacco announced a revised dividend policy and the stock gained 1⅜. Universal Match said its new automatic merchandisers were now in operation in an Atlanta department store and it rose 2 points. Cerro de Pasco added ¼ on a boosted cash and stock dividend.

Market Rallies To Close With Substantial Gains

NEW YORK (UPI)—The bulls roared in the late afternoon Tuesday and the bellow enabled the stock market to close with some fairly substantial gains.

Even the steels were carried along in the upsurge that came in the face of an unrelenting round of poor business news. Other good gains were scored by the aircrafts, oils, department stores, utilities, electronics and numerous specials. The rails, however, failed to participate in the rally.

The Dow-Jones industrial average rose 3.62 points to 597.11 while rail stocks finished 0.48 lower at 126.86 and utilities jumped 0.69 to 96.35. Volume picked up on the rise to 3,360,000 shares from 3,290,000 Monday.

The market breakdown revealed 563 gainers, 426 losers and 253 holding unchanged out of a total of 1,242 issues traded. New lows, however, again more than doubled new highs by 48 to 20.

Despite the generally poor business background, the rally seemed to coincide with several individual corporate developments. Union Carbide rose 2¼ and the move stimulated others in the group.

American Tobacco announced a revised dividend policy and the stock gained 1⅜s. Universal Match said its new automatic merchandisers were now in operation in an Atlanta department store and it rose 2 points. Cerro de Pasco added ¼ on a boosted cash and stock dividend.

In Memoriam

In loving memory of Mrs. Louise L. Sidaway, who passed away 18 years ago, Dec. 7, 1942.
In my heart I'd like to stray,
Along the road of yesterday.
To hear you laugh and see you smile,
To talk with you a little while.
I cannot bring the old days back,
Your hand I cannot touch,
But God has given me sweet memories,
Of a dead Mom I loved so much.
Sadly missed by daughter,
GERALDINE

In loving memory of our beloved father, Kirk George Hott, who died 2 years ago, December 6, 1958.
"Pap" we miss you more each year,
And often wish that you were here.
SADLY MISSED BY WIFE, SONS, DAUGHTERS & GRANDCHILDREN

In Memoriam

In loving memory of Mrs. Louise L. Sidaway, who passed away 18 years ago, Dec. 7, 1942.

In my heart I'd like to stray,
Along the road of yesterday.
To hear you laugh and see you smile,
To talk with you a little while.
I cannot bring the old days back,
Your hand I cannot touch,
But God has given me sweet memories,
Of a dead Mom I loved so much.

Sadly missed by daughter, GERALDINE

In loving memory of our beloved father, Kirk George Hott, who died 2 years ago, December 6, 1958.

"Pap" we miss you more each year,
And often wish that you were here.

SADLY MISSED BY WIFE, SONS, DAUGHTERS & GRANDCHILDREN

Hyndman Church Plans Evangelistic Services

HYNDMAN, PA. -- Evangelistic services will be held at the Hyndman Church of the Brethren this evening through Friday evening at 7:30 p. m.

Rev. Deane Shetler, recently named minister of the congregation will conduct the services. There will be a Communion and Love Feast on Sunday at 5 p. m. The public is invited to attend the services.

Goren On Bridge

At one table, South managed to get away with his contract by resorting to more subtle tactics. After winning the opening lead he cashed the ace and king of diamonds, intending next to cash the ace of spades but, when West dropped the jack of diamonds, he decided to withhold the ace of spades and provide the enemy with no gratuitous information. He led a little diamond to the dummy. True enough, West could have defeated the contract by ruffing in with the king, but he was not at that time aware of any danger and simply discarded a spade. Declarer ruffed in dummy and returned to his hand, in what seemed like a normal manner, with the ace of spades and led another diamond. West still saw no reason to ruff with the king, and declarer was in dummy to discard his losing heart.

Hyndman Church Plans Evangelistic Services

HYNDMAN, PA. — Evangelistic services will be held at the Hyndman Church of the Brethren this evening through Friday evening at 7:30 p. m.

Rev. Deane Shetler, recently named minister of the congregation will conduct the services. There will be a Communion and Love Feast on Sunday at 5 p. m. The public is invited to attend the services.

Goren On Bridge

At one table, South managed to get away with his contract by re-sorting to more subtle tactics. After winning the opening lead he cashed the ace and king of diamonds, intending next to cash the ace of spades but, when West dropped the jack of diamonds, he decided to withhold the ace of spades and provide the enemy with no gratuitous information. He led a little diamond to the dummy. True enough, West could have defeated the contract by ruffing in with the king, but he was not at that time aware of any danger and simply discarded a spade. Declarer ruffed in dummy and returned to his hand, in what seemed like a normal manner, with the ace of spades and led another diamond. West still saw no reason to ruff with the king, and declarer was in dummy to discard his losing heart.

Tokyo Near 10 Million

TOKYO (AP) — Already the most populous city in the world, Tokyo is expected to top 10 million next year, the government's Statistics Bureau predicted Monday. A census last October gave Tokyo a population of 9,675,600. London is second with 8,222,000 on the basis of a 1958 census.

Tawes OKs $8 Million Hike In School Funds

Program Provides $236,248 More For Allegany County

ANNAPOLIS (AP)—Gov. Tawes Tuesday approved more than $8 million in increased school and welfare aid to Baltimore City and the counties.

The program includes an increase of $236,284 for Allegany County—$162,974 for school operations, $44,901 for school construction and $28,399 welfare aid. The figures are approximate.

He said he does not know yet whether a tax increase of any kind will be necessary to finance the program, "but if it is I would not hesitate to recommend it."

The governor made the announcement at a weekly news conference. He said he was doing so at this time so Baltimore City could anticipate the new State aid in the budget being submitted by Mayor J. Harold Grady this week. The city stands to gain $2.3 million under the program.

Baltimore City will get only half the money next calendar year, however. The State's fiscal year does not begin until July 1. The city's starts Jan. 1.

The program approved by the governor was drafted by the Legislative Council's Committee on Taxation and Fiscal Matters, headed by Sen. William S. James, D-Harford.

Three-Part Program

It consists of three basic parts: $3.3 million in State aid for schools under the equalization formula, from which will have to come any salary increases given teachers; $3.2 for the State's incentive fund for school building, with most of it going to counties experiencing population explosions; and $1.5 million for increased welfare aid.

The governor did not approve a fourth part calling for $217,457 in new State aid for juvenile correctional facilities.

Tawes said the $3.3 million increase in equalization aid to counties will be the administration's answer to requested increases in teachers salaries It will be left up to subdivisions whether to apply the money to salaries or use it for other school purposes, he said.

Requires Pay Hike

Under the program the State will require that minimum salaries for teachers be raised from present guaranteed scales of $3,200-$5,000 to new levels of $3,600-$5,400.

But since all counties except Garrett are already paying at least these amounts, they can use the funds for other purposes. Garrett will be required to boost its present starting salaries from $3,500 to the new minimum of $3,600.

The proposal also requires counties to set a local levy of 87 cents per $100 valuation for school programs instead of the previously required tax rate of 75 cents per $100. Here again, most counties already are above the new required figure.

The chief change in the incentive fund for school construction is to boost the States' contribution from $20 per pupil to a new standard of $22 per pupil. As a help to large counties, the State will give them a new grant of $70 per pupil for each one added over the previous year's enrollment.

The $1.5 million increase in welfare aid will result from the State limiting the amount any county is required to contribute to welfare to 10 cents per $100 property valuation.

MSTA Opposed

The administration program is sure to be opposed by the Maryland State Teachers Assn., which has sharply criticized the James Committee report and is asking salary boosts totaling $13 million per year.

The governor said he also plans to include funds in his budget for State employe pay raises, as recommended by the commissioner of personnel to bring about half of the jobs more into line with comparable jobs in industry. Tawes did not have an exact figure on this but said it was something more than $1 million and might run closer to $2 million.

Tawes said he has not yet made any decision on the James Committee proposal that the State raise its 3-cent cigaret tax to a flat 6 cents per pack and refund the extra to counties. He said he first wants to see figures on how much the proposal would produce for each county.

The governor said he can not tell yet whether any new tax money will be necessary to balance his budget because he won't get the official revenue estimates until later this month.

He indicated, however, that if a tax adjustment does prove necessary it will be minor.

Man Is Fined On Unusual Charge Here

Jack Grayboyes, an agent for the Triangle Aluminum Company, was charged with failing to register and qualify as a foreign corporation with the Maryland Department of Assessment and Taxation to transact business in Maryland.

Grayboyes pleaded guilty to the charge and was fined by Magistrate F. Allan Weatherholt. Grayboyles was committed to the County Jail in default of fine, but was released later last night after paying his fine.

Assistant State's Attorney Donald W. Mason told the court yesterday that he checked with the state taxation department on October 25 on the Triangle Aluminum Company, which has its headquarters in Pittsburgh, and found the firm had not been cleared to transact business in Maryland.

Mr. Mason added the State Department of Assessment and Taxation wrote to the Pittsburgh firm following his inquiry on October 25 and the aluminum company still had not complied with the state law by December 2.

Grayboyes, who has been staying at a local hotel the past several weeks, told the court he was just the installation manager for the firm and was not aware his employers had not been authorized to do business in Maryland.

Grayboyes was represented at yesterday's hearing by Fred H. Anderson, local attorney.

SRC Is Asked To OK Signal Light Plans

City Engineer C. R. Nuzum was in Baltimore yesterday to confer with the State Roads Commission on the traffic light system planned for the intersection of the Industrial Boulevard with Virginia Avenue.

Police Commissioner Philmore Fleming said Mr. Nuzum will confer with George Lewis, SRC traffic engineer, on the light system.

He took with him specifications for the traffic control system to make sure that the new lights will conform with the overall Thruway traffic light system.

Mr. Fleming said Mr. Nuzum believed the system was satisfactory but would ask a complete review by SRC officials.

Involved are lights at Fifth Street and at Laing Avenue and below the B & O Subway on Virginia Avenue.

Mr. Fleming said he conferred yesterday with officials of the Queen City Electric Company, the sole bidder at $12,900 for the system.

He said the firm expressed willingness to try to work out financial arrangements. About $5,100 is presently available for the work.

Public Health Nurses Resign

The resignations of two public health nurses from the Allegany County Health Department were announced yesterday.

Mrs. Helen Vogel, Clarysville, has submitted her resignation to Dr. Ton van Strien, county health officer, effective December 16.

Mrs. Vogel has been a member of the Allegany County Health Department staff for about nine years.

Earlier this month, Mrs. Betty Johnson, 36 Memorial Avenue Extended, resigned as a public health nurse. She had been a member of the department for nearly two years.

Dr. Ton van Strien, county health officer, said tentative arrangements have been made to fill both posts.

He said a successor to Mrs. Johnson has been recommended to the State Health Department, and that Mrs. Vogel's position possibly will be filled in February.

False Alarm Checked

A call received by firemen of West Side station last night turned out to be a false alarm Someone called and said there was a grass fire at 109 Wills Creek Avenue. Firemen, who got the call at 7:30 p. m., said they could not locate the blaze.

Gas Rates Here Will Go Up On December 15

BALTIMORE (AP) — The Cumberland and Allegheny Gas Co. Tuesday was authorized to raise its rates effective Dec. 15 to provide an additional $570,000 in gross revenue annually.

The increase approved by the Public Service Commission will affect an estimated 21,000 customers in Maryland. The West Virginia company, which serves industrial and home users in Western Maryland, had sought an increase that would have yielded $833,000 in new revenue a year.

The State PSC also granted the utility authority to fix a minimum rate of $2.50 for residential customers using gas as the sole source of heat for their homes.

A commission spokesman said the authorization would give the company an estimated $285,000 in additional net income after taxes, and allow a 6.5 per cent annual return on its investment.

The company cited higher operating costs in requesting the increase.

Youth Gets Life Term In Slaying

Husband Of Former Local Woman Killed

A young Baltimore man convicted of murder in the robbery and slaying of the husband of a former Cumberland woman yesterday was sentenced to life imprisonment.

The sentence was imposed on Charles (Shotgun) Davis, 18, by Judge Joseph R. Byrnes in Youth Court at Baltimore.

Davis and another youth, James P. Ewell, 18, also of Baltimore, were charged with the crime which occurred last August in Baltimore.

The first degree conviction had been sought by the state under a Maryland statute which makes a killing in the course of a felony a crime of murder.

Murder Trial Continues In Hardy County

State Witnesses Testify In Case

The state introduced most of its witnesses yesterday in Hardy County Circuit Court at Moorefield, during the trial of an Old Fields man accused of causing the death of a salesman July 14 by sawing his arm back and forth across a broken window of an auto.

The accused man is Wilson C. Zirk, 45, who was indicted August 2 at a special session of the grand jury in the death of Eldridge Lee Ritter, salesman from Stephen's City, Va.

Among those who took the stand yesterday were Trooper Jack L. Baker, who investigated the murder; Dr. M. H. Maxwell, Moorefield physician, who was called to the scene, and Nolan Shreve of Brushy Run, a companion of Ritter prior to his death.

Testimony on the opening day of the trial was concluded yesterday at 5 p. m. and the case will resume at 9 a. m. today.

The state's case is being presented by Lewis Moomau, Hardy County prosecuting attorney. The defendant is being represented by Ralph J. Bean.

Following the incident on the morning of July 14 a coroner's jury ruled Ritter died from loss of blood after his right arm was pushed and pulled in a sawing motion over the broken front left window of his auto.

Ritter died at 4:50 a. m., according to Trooper Baker. Zirk was accused of having a fight with Ritter after a half-pint of liquor had been purchased from another Moorefield man, Pete Bierkamp.

The jury hearing the case was impaneled by 11 a. m. yesterday. Later the 18 witnesses who will testify were sworn.

The opening statement for the state was made before the noon recess by Mr. Moomau.

Relocation Of Street Completed

The relocation of Fourth Street Extended and the cutting through of an alley from Edgevale to Kentucky avenues were announced yesterday by John J. Long, commissioner of streets and public property.

Fourth Street Extended has been relocated from Wempe Drive to Homer Street by Street Department crews.

Work, on plans furnished by the Engineering Department, included the removal of trees and brush, cutting the street to grade and surfacing with shale from the airport.

Opening of the alley will allow a number of residents on the street to proceed with the construction of garages, Mr. Long said.

County Board Declines Stand On School Bond

Although the Allegany County legislators said a decision is necessary on the proposed $4.8 million school bond bill, the county commissioners declined to make any recommendations at a meeting with the legislators at the Court House Monday night.

The legislators were primarily interested in knowing if the county could handle such a large increase in its debt at the present time.

The county treasurer's office reported the county probably will pay in the neighborhood of $600,000 per year on the principal of the full bond issue, plus an additional interest amount of $250,000. State equalization funds are expected to offset this by about $200,000 on the average each year, the legislators were told.

Members of the Board of Allegany County Commissioners and the county treasurer's office indicated they were not opposed to the school program as outlined by the Board of Education, but expressed concern about adding to the county's present bonded indebtedness of $7,600,000.

Some concern was expressed on the county's ability to sell the bonds. This comes in the face of the huge sewage problem plaguing the county, it was explained. It will be impossible for additional funds to be raised to take care of both the sewage problem and school construction at the same time, the county officials added.

The sewage disposal program is expected to be paid for by revenue bonds. These bonds will increase the county's indebtedness but payment will be made from revenues obtained from service charges, and not from county funds.

The legislators were quick to point out that the school bonds will not be issued in a bulk amount. The bond issue would be sold as needed, thus cutting down on the average yearly debt to the county.

Delegate Fred B. Driscoll pointed out that the county commissioners will have to figure out the rate of payment per year and submit the report to the legislators.

Senator Charles M. See stated emphatically, "Schools can't be built without legislation and our time is limited," adding that the county's planning and zoning commission must make recommendation soon for action of the county and the General Assembly.

The legislators said there should be a series of meetings of the Board of Education, the Planning Commission and the County Commissioners to thrash

Senator Butler Will Speak At CUF Dinner

Incomplete Returns Exceed 1960 Goal

U. S. Senator John Marshall Butler, senior Senator from Maryland, will be principal speaker at the annual CUF Honor Award Dinner to recognize the chairmen, team captains, CUF representatives and the Big 7 Charity Fund committee members in the successful 1960 Fourth Mighty County United Fund drive which will be held at Ali Ghan Shrine Country Club Monday at 7 p. m., according to Wnifield H. Adam, CUF executive director.

Those to be honored at this "dutch treat" affair will be the various division and area chairmen, all area captains and CUF representatives and the Big Seven Charity Fund committeemen, Mr. Adam said.

To Be Honored

Due to the great number of awards to be presented this year, there will be another dinner meeting in February honoring the employe groups in the various area classified divisions which have qualified for outstanding citizenship awards.

Many of these employe groups will be repeating their successful recor dof giving last year, and will receive their "1960 Award" shingle to be afixed to last year's award plaque.

The 1960 CUF campaign was the most successful staged in this area to date. Incomplete returns exceeded the 1960 goal, Mr. Adam stated. The goal was $352,666 to meet the budgets of 28 national and local participating services in 31 communities in Allegany and Mineral counties.

To Be Honored

The Big Seven committees to be honored Monday represent the employes of Allegany Ballistics Laboratory, Celanese Fibers Company, Baltimore & Ohio Railroad Company, Kelly - Springfield Tire Company, Pittsburgh Plate Glass Company Works 7, West Virginia Pulp and Paper, and the Western Maryland Railway Company.

Senator Butler, when accepting the invitation to the CUF dinner extended by Mayor J. Edwin Keech, William E. Crooks, general campaign chairman, and George B. Newman, CUF president, said he was "proud and very happy to share this great moment of triumph with the fine community leaders of Allegany and Mineral counties."

Yule Program Is Friday At Local School

The fourth, fifth and sixth grades of Columbia Street School will present their annual Christmas program on Friday at 7:30 p. m.

"Christmas in Song and Story" will be the theme of the program, according to Mrs. Jean Staggers and Mrs. Rose Ambrose, co-chairmen. Miss Mable Meyers, former resource music teacher, has assisted with the music.

The program is as follows:

Introduction — Eugene Basilio; "Deck The Halls," Miss Agatha Witte; "Away In A Manger," Mrs. Jean Staggers; "Joy To The World," Mrs. Ruth Chapman; "I Heard the Bells on Christmas Day," William Pugh; "It Came on a Christmas Clear," Mrs. Pearl Mello; and "O Little Town of Bethlehem," Mrs. Rose Ambrose.

The nativity scene will include Joyce Pence, Tommy Piper, Jeanne Eisenberger, Billy Nelson, Robert Shrake, Larry Pfeiffer, Nail Keys, Tommy Mayo, Joe Baker.

Children of many lands include Diane Morton, Germany; Ann Metzger, Holland; Samuel Blume, America; Allan Sweard, Norway; Chris Ann Ruehl, Mexico, and Steven Kienhofer, Japan.

Angels are Sharon Jackson, Sandra Harman, Jacqueline Bennett, Diane Small, Patricia Witt, Deborah Crabtree. The chorus for the Nativity scene is composed of the children of the three grades. The Christmas Story Bible reading will be given by Frankie Billard.

Two Local Girls Ordered Committed

Two local girls, ages 14 and 15, yesterday were found guilty of being delinquent minors and were ordered committed to training schools for girls.

Magistrate Louis A. Fatkin of Juvenile Court ordered the 14-year-old girl to Montrose School for Girls and the 15-year-old girl was committed to the House of the Good Shepherd.

The magistrate noted yesterday that the two girls had been before the court on several previous occasions and had failed to comply with orders of the court.

Principals Discuss Education Future

High school principals and supervisors of secondary education in Allegany County public schools yesterday attended a meeting with the theme, "Education at the Crossroads—Which Direction Shall We Take?" Left to right are Joseph Pellerzi, principal of Oldtown High, who discussed viewpoints of Admiral Hyman Rickover; Kenneth Sheetz, Bruce High School, who gave his reaction to points of view on education; Jack Petry, supervisor of high schools, who led the discussion; Miss Ruth McColly, home economics supervisor who discussed teacher education problems, and Dr. W. Ardell Haines, principal of Allegany, who offered recommendations for modifying, extending and initiating changes in the present high school program.

Tawes OKs $8 Million Hike In School Funds

Program Provides $236,248 More For Allegany County

ANNAPOLIS (AP)—Gov. Tawes Tuesday approved more than $8 million in increased school and welfare aid to Baltimore City and the counties.

The program includes an increase of $236,284 for Allegany County—$162,974 for school operations, $44,901 for school construction and $28,399 welfare aid. The figures are approximate.

He said he does not know yet whether a tax increase of any kind will be necessary to finance the program, "but if it is I would not hesitate to recommend it."

The governor made the announcement at a weekly news conference. He said he was doing so at this time so Baltimore City could anticipate the new State aid in the budget being submitted by Mayor J. Harold Grady this week. The city stands to gain $2.3 million under the program.

Baltimore City will get only half the money next calendar year, however. The State's fiscal year does not begin until July 1. The city's starts Jan. 1.

The program approved by the governor was drafted by the Legislative Council's Committee on Taxation and Fiscal Matters, headed by Sen. William S. James, D-Harford.

Three-Part Program

It consists of three basic parts: $3.3 million in State aid for schools under the equalization formula, from which will have to come any salary increases given teachers; $3.2 for the State's incentive fund for school building, with most of it going to counties experiencing population explosions; and $1.5 million for increased welfare aid.

The governor did not approve a fourth part calling for $217,457 in new State aid for juvenile correctional facilities.

Tawes said the $3.3 million increase in equalization aid to counties will be the administration's answer to requested increases in teachers salaries It will be left up to subdivisions whether to apply the money to salaries or use it for other school purposes, he said.

Requires Pay Hike

Under the program the State will require that minimum salaries for teachers be raised from present guaranteed scales of $3,200-$5,000 to new levels of $3,600-$5,400.

But since all counties except Garrett are already paying at least these amounts, they can use the funds for other purposes. Garrett will be required to boost its present starting salaries from $3,500 to the new minimum of $3,600.

The proposal also requires counties to set a local levy of 87 cents per $100 valuation for school programs instead of the previously required tax rate of 75 cents per $100. Here again, most counties already are above the new required figure.

The chief change in the incentive fund for school construction is to boost the States' contribution from $20 per pupil to a new standard of $22 per pupil. As a help to large counties, the State will give them a new grant of $70 per pupil for each one added over the previous year's enrollment.

The $1.5 million increase in welfare aid will result from the State limiting the amount any county is required to contribute to welfare to 10 cents per $100 property valuation.

MSTA Opposed

The administration program is sure to be opposed by the Maryland State Teachers Assn., which has sharply criticized the James Committee report and is asking salary boosts totaling $13 million per year.

The governor said he also plans to include funds in his budget for State employe pay raises, as recommended by the commissioner of personnel to bring about half of the jobs more into line with comparable jobs in industry. Tawes did not have an exact figure on this but said it was something more than $1 million and might run closer to $2 million.

Tawes said he has not yet made any decision on the James Committee proposal that the State raise its 3-cent cigaret tax to a flat 6 cents per pack and refund the extra to counties. He said he first wants to see figures on how much the proposal would produce for each county.

The governor said he can not tell yet whether any new tax money will be necessary to balance his budget because he won't get the official revenue estimates until later this month.

He indicated, however, that if a tax adjustment does prove necessary it will be minor.

Man Is Fined On Unusual Charge Here

A Pennsylvania man yesterday was fined $200 in Trial Magistrate Court on an unusual charge of violating a state law on corporation registration.

Jack Grayboyes, an agent for the Triangle Aluminum Company, was charged with failing to register and qualify as a foreign corporation with the Maryland Department of Assessment and Taxation to transact business in Maryland.

Grayboyes pleaded guilty to the charge and was fined by Magistrate F. Allan Weatherholt. Grayboyles was committed to the County Jail in default of fine, but was released later last night after paying his fine.

Assistant State's Attorney Donald W. Mason told the court yesterday that he checked with the state taxation department on October 25 on the Triangle Aluminum Company, which has its headquarters in Pittsburgh, and found the firm had not been cleared to transact business in Maryland.

Mr. Mason added the State Department of Assessment and Taxation wrote to the Pittsburgh firm following his inquiry on October 25 and the aluminum company still had not complied with the state law by December 2.

Grayboyes, who has been staying at a local hotel the past several weeks, told the court he was just the installation manager for the firm and was not aware his employers had not been authorized to do business in Maryland.

Grayboyes was represented at yesterday's hearing by Fred H. Anderson, local attorney.

SRC Is Asked To OK Signal Light Plans

City Engineer C. R. Nuzum was in Baltimore yesterday to confer with the State Roads Commission on the traffic light system planned for the intersection of the Industrial Boulevard with Virginia Avenue.

Police Commissioner Philmore Fleming said Mr. Nuzum will confer with George Lewis, SRC traffic engineer, on the light system.

He took with him specifications for the traffic control system to make sure that the new lights will conform with the overall Thruway traffic light system.

Mr. Fleming said Mr. Nuzum believed the system was satisfactory but would ask a complete review by SRC officials.

Involved are lights at Fifth Street and at Laing Avenue and below the B & O Subway on Virginia Avenue.

Mr. Fleming said he conferred yesterday with officials of the Queen City Electric Company, the sole bidder at $12,900 for the system.

He said the firm expressed willingness to try to work out financial arrangements. About $5,100 is presently available for the work.

Public Health Nurses Resign

The resignations of two public health nurses from the Allegany County Health Department were announced yesterday.

Mrs. Helen Vogel, Clarysville, has submitted her resignation to Dr. Ton van Strien, county health officer, effective December 16.

Mrs. Vogel has been a member of the Allegany County Health Department staff for about nine years.

Earlier this month, Mrs. Betty Johnson, 36 Memorial Avenue Extended, resigned as a public health nurse. She had been a member of the department for nearly two years.

Dr. Ton van Strien, county health officer, said tentative arrangements have been made to fill both posts.

He said a successor to Mrs. Johnson has been recommended to the State Health Department, and that Mrs. Vogel's position possibly will be filled in February.

False Alarm Checked

A call received by firemen of West Side station last night turned out to be a false alarm Someone called and said there was a grass fire at 109 Wills Creek Avenue. Firemen, who got the call at 7:30 p. m., said they could not locate the blaze.

Gas Rates Here Will Go Up On December 15

BALTIMORE (AP) — The Cumberland and Allegheny Gas Co. Tuesday was authorized to raise its rates effective Dec. 15 to provide an additional $570,000 in gross revenue annually.

The increase approved by the Public Service Commission will affect an estimated 21,000 customers in Maryland. The West Virginia company, which serves industrial and home users in Western Maryland, had sought an increase that would have yielded $833,000 in new revenue a year.

The State PSC also granted the utility authority to fix a minimum rate of $2.50 for residential customers using gas as the sole source of heat for their homes.

A commission spokesman said the authorization would give the company an estimated $285,000 in additional net income after taxes, and allow a 6.5 per cent annual return on its investment.

The company cited higher operating costs in requesting the increase.

Youth Gets Life Term In Slaying

Husband Of Former Local Woman Killed

A young Baltimore man convicted of murder in the robbery and slaying of the husband of a former Cumberland woman yesterday was sentenced to life imprisonment.

The sentence was imposed on Charles (Shotgun) Davis, 18, by Judge Joseph R. Byrnes in Youth Court at Baltimore.

Davis was found guilty of robbing and fatally beating Frank Creamer, who was married to the former Virginia Owings of Cumberland.

Davis and another youth, James P. Ewell, 18, also of Baltimore, were charged with the crime which occurred last August in Baltimore.

Senator Butler Will Speak At CUF Dinner

Incomplete Returns Exceed 1960 Goal

U. S. Senator John Marshall Butler, senior Senator from Maryland, will be principal speaker at the annual CUF Honor Award Dinner to recognize the chairmen, team captains, CUF representatives and the Big 7 Charity Fund committee members in the successful 1960 Fourth Mighty County United Fund drive which will be held at Ali Ghan Shrine Country Club Monday at 7 p. m., according to Wnifield H. Adam, CUF executive director.

Those to be honored at this "dutch treat" affair will be the various division and area chairmen, all area captains and CUF representatives and the Big Seven Charity Fund committeemen, Mr. Adam said.

To Be Honored

Due to the great number of awards to be presented this year, there will be another dinner meeting in February honoring the employe groups in the various area classified divisions which have qualified for outstanding citizenship awards.

Many of these employe groups will be repeating their successful recor dof giving last year, and will receive their "1960 Award" shingle to be afixed to last year's award plaque.

The 1960 CUF campaign was the most successful staged in this area to date. Incomplete returns exceeded the 1960 goal, Mr. Adam stated. The goal was $352,666 to meet the budgets of 28 national and local participating services in 31 communities in Allegany and Mineral counties.

To Be Honored

The Big Seven committees to be honored Monday represent the employes of Allegany Ballistics Laboratory, Celanese Fibers Company, Baltimore & Ohio Railroad Company, Kelly - Springfield Tire Company, Pittsburgh Plate Glass Company Works 7, West Virginia Pulp and Paper, and the Western Maryland Railway Company.

Senator Butler, when accepting the invitation to the CUF dinner extended by Mayor J. Edwin Keech, William E. Crooks, general campaign chairman, and George B. Newman, CUF president, said he was "proud and very happy to share this great moment of triumph with the fine community leaders of Allegany and Mineral counties."
